ACCUSES ROOSEVELT OF PICKING QUARREL

President Castro of Venezuela Asks if He Is Trying to be a Dictator.

A THREAT OF RESISTANCE

Washington Authorities Discuss Measures to Stop the Arroganoe of the Venezuelan Government.

CARACAS, Sunday, March 29.—On the day following the publication of the diplomatic correspondence regarding the violation of the mail pouches of the United States ship Tacoma, President Castro's official organ, El Constitucional, published an editorial accusing President Roosevelt of "searching for light incidents out of which to create a conflict with Venezuela" and of having a "premeditated plan."

"Is it possible that Minister Russell could have written his note to our Foreign Office without having a preconceived and premeditated intention?" it asked. "To attribute to a simple act, without responsibility to the Post Office in La Guayra, intentions which do not exist and to prejudge the act as serious for the Government of the United States is to have a premeditated plan which ought not to originate, because it cannot, from the actual American Minister in Caracas, W. W. Russell.

"From where then can originate the idea of searching for slight incidents to create a conflict with Venezuela? From the Chief of this legation, who is called the Secretary of State in Washington, and who, in turn, cannot but be under the direct influence of President Roosevelt.

"If the aspiration of Roosevelt, President of the United States, against the traditions which impose the union of the American people among themselves, has as a basis the abdication of the territorial sovereignty of these people, or the nullity of their codes, just because of the pretentions of a few citizens who do not, and cannot, represent the will of the American people, it is then high time that this horrible truth be known and that the people of the New World know whether in the Government of the United States they have a friend or a capricious dictator."

A profound sensation has been caused in Caracas by this article, for it is President Castro who speaks. Between the lines it is easy to see that friendly relations must now be strained almost to the breaking point. Saying that it will be necessary to conquer Venezuela if the decisions of its courts are not respected, the article closes:

"Either the United States will respect and support the decisions of the Mixed International Tribunals and those of the tribunals of Venezuela, or it will raise up once for all the flag of conquest in America. Then it will be that the people of the New World will know what the position is that they will have to occupy in the present and in the future."

After the opening of the Tacoma's mail pouches in the La Guayra Post Office had been discovered Minister Russell on March 21 in a note to Dr. Paul, Minister for Foreign Affairs, made this statement:

"Inasmuch as having broken the seal of the United States which had been placed on these mail pouches addressed to a United States warship visiting in a Venezuelan port, and having touched wrongfully the correspondence of said ship, is a very serious matter, I respectfully ask your Excellency to make a prompt and complete investigation of this act on the part of the functionaries of the Venezuelan Post Office in La Guayra."

The Foreign Office ordered an investigation to be made by the Postmaster General. This showed that the pouches had been opened by mistake, and that the contents had not been disturbed. Dr. Paul then answered Mr. Russell under date of March 24, saying:

"To the suspiciousness or levity shown by the observations contained in your Excellency's note, the Venezuelan Government, even more interested in clearing up the matter, replied by immediately addressing the Minister of Posts, in conformity with your desire, to the end of opening a rapid investigation of the facts. From the report your Excellency will see that the facts are completely cleared up and in a way which attaches no responsibility which could affect the good name of the Administration and the credit of a Government such as Venezuela has to-day.

"In fact, one sees at first sight that the Government of Venezuela could have no interest in interfering with correspondence of no importance to it, and only a prejudiced mind could have called it a very serious matter from the first moment.

"It is perfectly well explained that the seals of the two bags received by the Post Office in La Guayra, and not three as stated in your Excellency's note, and which it afterward became known were for the cruiser Tacoma, were exactly similar to the ordinary seals used by the New York Post Office, and it is also explained that the correspondence was delivered, as soon as its destination became known, integral and intact, as was shown by the Secretary of the American Consul receiving it without question. This is also shown by the contents of your Excellency's note to which I refer."

MAY EXHAUST OUR PATIENCE.

Army and Navy Authorities Discuss Action Against Venezuela.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Administration has expected that Castro would raise the sort of howl he is now reported from Caracas as emitting, to the effect that President Roosevelt was trying to pick a quarrel with him. That was one of the considerations which made it desirable for the State Department to furnish all the facts in all the cases to the Senate before any definite action was taken.

The papers sent in response to the Lodge resolution make a plain showing of the entire situation. They reveal the patience of the State Department and the Administration in the face of repeated affronts from Castro. There has never been a case in which such an attitude as Castro's toward us has been attempted by any other Nation, or in which such language as he habitually employs has marked our diplomatic exchanges.

If anything like such talk had been indulged in by any power bearing anything like reasonable resemblance toward our own, the whole country would have been ablaze with wrath and indignation

KING REGAINS A DAUGHTER.

Little Princess Pia Monica Goes Home to Dresden with Her Father.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 7.—The struggle for the possession of the Princess Pia Monica, the youngest daughter of the King of Saxony, and Signora Toselli, has ended with the child's arrival at Dresden to-day in company with her father, who met her yesterday at Leipsic.

The little Princess, who will henceforth be known as the Princess Anna of Saxony, received a tremendous ovation, both at the railway station and in the streets leading to the royal castle. The Princess's two sisters, the Princesses Margaret and Alix, who had never before seen her, had gone up the line to greet her, while her brothers, the Crown Prince and Prince Frederick Christian, awaited her at the station. The crowds broke into enthusiastic cheering as the King with his three daughters alighted from the royal carriage. Scores of children threw bouquets to the little Princess as she made her way, smiling, along the station platform.

The streets were thronged with people who cheered the reunited royal family heartily.

According to the Badische Kurier of Karlsruhe, Signora Toselli has written friends that she has definitely determined to leave her husband and take up her residence in Germany.

CHICAGO GOES REPUBLICAN.

Milwaukee Democrats Elect Mayor—Many Illinois Saloons Must Close.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The Republicans won a sweeping victory in Chicago to-day, electing twenty-three of the thirty-five candidates for City Council voted upon. The Democrats elected eleven. The odd man is an Independent Republican.

In the local option elections held by 1,200 townships in 84 counties of Illinois outside of the City of Chicago to-day, 20 counties became absolutely anti-saloon territory, and approximately 1,500, or about one-half of the total number of saloons in that territory were voted out of business. Most of the larger cities of the State, however, voted in favor of licensing saloons.

It was in the smaller towns that the saloons were defeated. The sale of liquor must stop on May 1. There will be another battle on April 21, at which the voters of the villages will have an opportunity to decide between prohibition or saloons.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 7.—David S. Rose, Democrat, was elected Mayor to-day by a plurality of nearly 4,000 over the Socialist candidate, Emil Seidel, the Republican candidate Thomas J. Pringle, being the third in the race. The election of Rose was brought about by the knifing of the Republican nominee by the La Follette Republicans.

The liquor question came to the front in many places, but the anti-saloon league captured but few places. Some towns dry two years ago voted for liquor.

Scattering returns received to-night from throughout Wisconsin indicate that delegates at large favorable to the nomination of Robert M. La Follette have a good lead on the Taft delegates.

DEROIT, Mich., April 7.—Oakland County went "dry" by from 75 to 150 majority, making a total of ten out of fourteen counties which the Prohibitionists carried in yesterday's election.

PARKERSBURG, West Va., April 7.—Republicans won the municipal election to-day and retain control of all departments of the city government.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 7.—Samuel E. Carbon, Republican, was elected Mayor of Jamestown to-day. The remainder of the Republican ticket, with the exception of one Alderman, was elected.

OMAHA, Neb., April 7.—The prohibition element has made decided gains in Nebraska of thirty or forty towns heard from up to 12 o'clock to-night. About two-thirds had voted against the saloons. South Omaha, which has been Democratic, to-day elected the Republican Mayor. There was no election in Omaha.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 7.—The Republicans elected their ticket to-day. Edward W. Hooper, for Mayor, defeated Ignatius Sullivan by 332 votes. The vote for license was carried by 5,364 majority.

DISOBEYED SQUIERS TO WED.

Diplomat's Daughter Married to Canal Commissioner Rousseau at Panama.

PANAMA, April 7.—Miss Gladys Squiers, daughter of the United States Minister to Panama, Herbert G. Squiers, was secretly married to Lieut. Harry H. Rousseau, a member of the Panama Canal Commission, last Saturday night. The ceremony was performed by Judge Hezekiah A. Gudger of North Carolina, who is a Judge of the Canal Zone in the District of Ancon.

The wedding followed the attendance of the couple at a ball given that night by the Tivoli Club. It has created a sensation in social circles here, as it was known that Mr. Squiers repeatedly had refused to permit the marriage.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Canal Commissioner H. H. Rousseau was formerly a civil engineer in the navy and Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks when appointed to the Canal Commission about a year ago. He joined the navy in 1898 and gets a large salary. He is a native of Troy and 37 years old. He was the youngest man ever at the head of one of the great naval bureaus at Washington.

Minister Squiers was first Secretary of the American Legation at Peking during the Boxer outbreak in the Summer of 1900 and was in Peking with his family during the siege of the legations. Afterward he was appointed Minister to Cuba, but was relieved after there had been some diplomatic discussion regarding his service there. Subsequently he was sent to Panama. Last year Miss Squiers was reported engaged to J. W. Lee, then Minister to Guatemala.

CANNON'S LITTLE JOKE.

Occupies Williams's Seat and Holds It When Minority Leader Appears.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Speaker Cannon to-day perpetrated a little joke on the Democrats in the House. During the consideration of the District of Columbia Appropriation bill he turned the gavel over to Mr. Dalzell and mingled with the members on the floor. Finding himself in the vicinity of the seat of Mr. Williams he sat in it.

He assumed the air of the minority leader and wore a broad smile as he surveyed the Democratic side. Mr. Williams, emerging from the cloakroom, saw the Speaker and pretended to want to sit down. The Speaker held on, however, much to the amusement of Mr. Williams and the Democrats.

UNIVERSITY JUNIORS EXPECT SUSPENSION

Faculty Said to Have Decreed That Punishment for the Whole Class.

STUDENTS MAY ALL GO OUT

Exciting Events Looked for To-day as Sequel to the Hazing of Freshman Bloch.

Heavy clouds hung over University Heights last night, and the New York University students, who went on strike last week for a couple of days, could not make out whether they portended war or not. The entire Student Body may again be out on strike this afternoon.

The students, by piecing things together after the Faculty meeting yesterday afternoon, had come to the conclusion by nightfall that the entire junior class would be suspended to-day, and the formal announcement to that effect be made at chapel this morning at 10:15 o'clock. They had heard that the suspension would be a modified affair, however, shorn of its old cutting features.

That was the reason why University Heights and the Hall of Fame had to listen last evening to reverberating college yells, each word of which was plainly distinguishable a mile away, and the reason that a serpentine line of 350 students wound round and round the campus, out on the streets of the Heights neighborhood, round the dorms, past the professors' houses, past the frat houses, and down where ginger ale is tolerated but not welcome.

Wherever a junior lived there was a swift packing of trunks and suitcases last night. In some cases the students believed that if they went home under suspension they would not come back any more, and so their packing was a bit more serious than that of those who were almost certain that an enforced vacation of some ten days wouldn't make any large difference with their "governors." The serious packers put together their chattels and stayed out late telling somebody good-bye.

Faculty Examines Young and Bloch.

Yesterday morning the Discipline Committee of the Faculty met to make recommendations concerning the so-called hazing of Henry Bloch last Wednesday. A. A. Young, President of the junior class, who was suspended on Thursday by the Faculty as representing his class, which was held primarily responsible for the ducking, was the only witness examined by the committee.

The full Faculty met yesterday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, and Bloch was the only witness examined. He walked into the front door of Language Hall, and out of the back door. The students sat about on the steps waiting for the decision. No yeas or nays were taken, but the general impression was that the Student Body would not be sorry for a vacation of a week or ten days, anyhow.

The Faculty meeting broke up after an hour and a half behind closed doors. The members came out one by one, each protesting that he was under strict orders not to divulge the action of the Faculty. Dean Snow and Acting Chancellor MacCracken made this statement to the newspapers:

"The Faculty thinks it is only fair to the student organization to make the first announcement of its decision to that organization to-morrow morning. For that reason every person present this afternoon has promised on his word of honor not to divulge the action taken here."

There was some laboratory work done in the physics classes after the Faculty meeting. In assigning experiments the professor of chemistry half-laughingly remarked that there would probably be no use of assigning any experiments to the juniors.

The New York University baseball team goes to West Point to-day to play the Military Academy. Fred Van Houten of Paterson, N. J., shortstop, and the only junior on the team, was notified by the Faculty last night that he couldn't play with the nine, which was taken as another straw pointing to the way the wind would blow to-day.

One of the Faculty, when pressed by a student last night, said that punishment would be inflicted upon a certain portion of the Student Body, and that if the others began to cut up there might be trouble. He intimated that the punishment would be lenient, and that all those suspended would be allowed to enter fully into athletic and other student activities after the suspension had expired. The rule is that no student can enter into these activities, for a year after suspension. That was changed in this case.

The reason given for the alleged leniency of the Faculty in not enforcing the rule as to exclusion from student activities upon suspended students was that the members believed that the young men had acted under a misunderstanding, that they had been misled by a few college politicians, and were now sorry for what they had done.

Chancellor McCracken, who was in Denmark, was communicated with last week. He cut his visit short, it was said last night, because of the student complication. He will be on his way home within a day or two.

Student Body Meets at 12:15.

The student organization has been called to meet to-day at 12:15 o'clock, not in the chapel, where it usually meets, but in the Young Men's Christian Association Building. It will be called to order by A. H. Sherin, its President, and a classmate of Young's. One or two members of the Faculty have accused him of being one of the several college politicians who misled the students last week.

There is still nailed out on the campus bulletin board the typewritten ultimatum sent from the student organization to the Faculty last Friday, when the students, after a two-day strike, agreed to go back to their recitations temporarily. The last paragraph of that ultimatum says that the student organization, all of it, proposes to take upon itself any punishment that is visited upon any person for alleged complicity in the ducking of Bloch.

Some students say that all of the 350 will be in honor bound to suspend themselves if the junior class is suspended. Members of the Faculty said last week if the members of the other three classes suspend themselves, the Faculty would expel the whole lot.

In that case New York University will be without a graduating class for four years.

Women Seize and Destroy Whisky.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7.—At Lexington, Tenn., yesterday, members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union destroyed about forty gallons of whisky belonging to a saloon keeper who had recently moved to that place from Jackson, a "dry" town. The women reimbursed the owner for the whisky destroyed.

EMMA GOLDMAN GETS IN.

Held Up Once at Canadian Border, but Admitted Second Time.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, April 7.—Emma Goldman crossed the border into the United States to-night without any interference. When she tried to do so last night she was stopped by the immigration officials.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—No information, as yet, has been received at the Department of Commerce and Labor concerning the reported detention of Emma Goldman at the international boundary. It is known that she has been under surveillance for several months.

Alexander Barkman, at his home, 210 East Thirteenth Street, said last night that he was certain the newspapers were misinformed about Emma Goldman having been kept from entering this country. He said:

"I have not heard directly from Miss Goldman, but I have had word from friends in Canada that Miss Goldman is now in the United States. If she is not, however, she has no cause to fear that the Government can prevent her entering. She is a citizen of the United States, her father having been naturalized before her birth, and as such Miss Goldman cannot be kept from coming into the United States."

MAGISTRATE HELD AS THIEF.

Prominent Waterbury Man Says He Couldn't Resist Temptation to Steal.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERBURY, Conn., April 7.—Kerrill Kimberly, 35, of Goshen, who for years has enjoyed the confidence of his fellow-townsmen as a staid and solid citizen, was arrested to-day on a bench warrant charging him with many burglaries.

Robert Hurley, who made the arrest, took Kimberly from his weeping wife and three children and locked him up, as no bondsman appeared.

Kimberly is charged with robbing the Summer cottages of Mrs. M. A. Beach of New Haven and Mrs. Cora A. Scott, and the shops, dwellings, and farms of the Fred Johnson Winsted Hosiery Company. Already the man has confessed to having stolen from a dozen places, and has turned over a large amount of plunder. He says: "I felt an irresistible impulse to steal, against which my mind was a feeble combatant. It's all over; it's a great load off and I am glad." He was a Grand Juror, Justice, and strong in the granges and the Church and socially.

THIEF GETS FAMILY JEWELS.

Stole Them from Secret Drawer While Silk Merchant Was at the Theatre.

The apartment of Max Goldsmith in the Jermyn apartments, 10 West Sixty-first Street, was entered some time early Monday night and a lot of valuable jewelry stolen. Mr. Goldsmith is a member of the wholesale silk firm of Hess, Goldsmith & Co. of 53 Greene Street, and was at a theatre, and did not learn of the theft until some time after his return home.

It was said yesterday that the thief is believed to have entered the apartment by climbing the fire escape. Once in the house he apparently knew exactly where to go, for the jewels were kept in a secret drawer in a dresser, that only a few members of the family are supposed to have known anything about.

So quietly did the thief work, that a nephew of Mr. Goldsmith's, the housekeeper, and a maid knew nothing of what had happened until informed of the affair by Mr. Goldsmith. They all declared that they had heard no one in the house during the time that Mr. Goldsmith was away.

Mr. Goldsmith was said to have reported the theft to the police yesterday, but this was denied at the West Sixty-eighth Street Police Station.

STRIKE IN TERMINAL BUILDING

Sheet Metal Workers All Out—Sculptor Carl Bitter Involved.

A general strike of the sheet metal workers, which went into effect yesterday at the Hudson Terminal Building in Cortlandt Street against the employment of non-union men, indirectly affects Carl Bitter, the sculptor who was employed to model the allegorical designs for the main entrance, the work from the designs to be done in metal.

Mr. Bitter also received the contract for having the work done, but according to the strikers some of the metal construction for the work was done by a firm which employed non-union men.

There were a great many sheet metal workers employed in the building, and all went out. The General Arbitration Board will be asked to pass on the question whether or not the strike is a violation of the arbitration agreement.

NEWBERRY'S PUZZLING VISIT.

Naval Official Interests Navy Men by Sailing Around Staten Island.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Truman H. Newberry paid a visit to this port yesterday and devoted several hours to sailing around Staten Island on a tour of inspection. The officials at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn were puzzled to explain the object of the trip.

Two explanations were advanced—one that the Assistant Secretary was examining into the feasibility of Rear Admiral Goodrich's plan to establish a naval base on Staten Island which should be the home station of the Atlantic fleet, the other that the adoption of the proposed scheme to establish a coaling station on Staten Island was being seriously considered by the Navy Department.

RAILROAD BUSINESS BETTER.

B. & O. Did 5½ Per Cent. More in March Than in February.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, April 7.—That a return to prosperity has come to the industrial district about Pittsburg was indicated to-day when certain railroad figures became public.

The Baltimore & Ohio figures for March show an increase of 5½ per cent. over the figures of February, and show that the month of March this year was but 24 per cent. behind February of last year, which was the banner year in railroad business of the country.

The month's figures show the business here last month to have been about 10 per cent. less than two years ago, which may be considered as an average year. It was also made public to-day that the passenger business of the Wabash Line at Pittsburg during the month of February was 18 per cent. in excess of the same month last year.

ABRUZZI OPPOSED AT ROYAL COUNCIL

Queen Mother and His Elder Brother Object to Marriage to Miss Elkins.

PLEASED AS HE GOES AWAY

Court Understands That the Italian King Will Give His Consent—Elkins Leaves Washington.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, April 7.—I saw the Duke of the Abruzzi at the railway station this afternoon as he was leaving for Spezia. He was gay, smiling continually, and apparently was happy, but nobody seemed to know whether his satisfaction was due to the result of a conference of the royal family over his proposed marriage to Miss Katherine Elkins, or to a cablegram from America he received a few minutes before his departure.

Altogether the strictest secrecy is maintained with regard to the council, which was held at the Quirinal. The Duke of Aosta, elder brother of Abruzzi, who had said that members of the royal family should marry within their rank, arrived here this morning. He had breakfast with his brother, King Victor Emmanuel, and the Count of Turin. Afterward the family council was held and the question of Abruzzi's marriage to Senator Elkins's daughter was taken up. Later the brothers had luncheon with the King and Queen.

It seems that the Duke of Aosta opposed the marriage with determination, upholding the maintenance of the traditional custom of intermarriage of members of royal houses. He added that he was voicing also the opinion of the Queen Mother.

In Court circles it is believed that the King will not displease Abruzzi, of whom he is fondest among the three brothers. Indeed, from a high Court personage I learn that the long discussions with the King have regard more for procedure, etiquette, and ceremonial of the Court than for the matter of consent.

Another important question raised is, Will Miss Elkins abjure Protestantism before her marriage, or become a Catholic afterward, or will she refuse to change her religion altogether? It is remarked that a marriage can be performed validly in the Catholic Church even without her changing her religion.

It is asserted that the engagement, if there is one, will not be officially communicated, it being the custom to reserve announcement of the engagement of members of the royal family until after the marriage ceremony has actually been performed.

The Duke went to Spezia to resume command of the battleship Regina Elena.

ROME, Wednesday, April 8.—The prevailing opinion of the royal family council of yesterday, as expressed by the newspapers this morning, is that, notwithstanding some opposition and divergence of opinion at the council, the Duke of the Abruzzi insisted upon his wish to marry Miss Elkins, and that he already has obtained, or is in a fair way to obtain, the consent of the King.

The Vatican has received a long report from the United States concerning the Elkins family, and it is understood the procedure to be followed, if a marriage between the Duke and Miss Elkins occurs, has had consideration.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—A dispatch concerning the conference in Rome today in relation to the arrangement for the marriage of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins was read today by Senator Elkins, and he had no comment to make. He said he had not been advised of the meeting. He left Washington at 1 o'clock this afternoon to attending a railroad meeting in Baltimore, he said.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 7.—Cardinal Gibbons, when asked to-night if Senator Elkins had stopped over in Baltimore to see him to-night, smiled and said:

"I have not seen him. He may come. He will come."

Then the Cardinal withdrew before he could be questioned further. Nothing could be learned here of the Senator's movements, and railroad men say they know of no meeting he could have attended.

ENDS DUAL LIFE IN POVERTY.

Dr. J. S. Cabanne Had for 25 Years Maintained Two Homes.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—Dr. James Sheppard Cabanne, aged 69, founder of the fashionable West End section, which bears his name and once rated as very wealthy, died to-day in poverty at St. Vincent's Asylum. Dr. Cabanne was a son of Lucien Duthiel Cabanne and a grandson of Jean Pierre Cabanne, who came to St. Louis from France in 1798.

For a quarter of a century Dr. Cabanne had lived a dual life, maintaining in addition to his handsome West End home a modest North St. Louis home, where he was known as "Mr. Norris." Mrs. Cabanne (née Chenier) divorced him in 1904, charging abandonment. She and his two children still live at the Cabanne mansion.

MACCRACKEN LEAVES SWEDEN

Takes Luncheon with Rulers—Scandinavians Approve His Plans.

COPENHAGEN, April 7.—Dr. Henry Mitchell MacCracken, Chancellor of New York University, took luncheon with King Haakon and Queen Maud at Christiania yesterday. He left here to-day for England, and will sail for New York on the Mauretania.

Chancellor MacCracken's plan for an interchange of professors with the United States has been cordially received by the Danish, Norwegian, and Swedish universities. He will invite the Scandinavians in the United States to subscribe funds to carry out the plans.

MORE RIOTING IN LISBON.

Hundreds of Arrests Made and Stringent Measures Threatened.

LISBON, April 7.—Unawed by the strong military force with which the city has swarmed since the election rioting on Sunday evening, and the heavy arrivals of troops from the provinces to-day, the population of Lisbon made fresh demonstrations this evening.

Two hundred arrests were made, and it is officially announced that more than 600 arrests were made on Sunday and Monday. The prisoners were transferred this afternoon to Caxias fortress, where preparations have been made to guard several hundred long-time occupants, and where the most rigid investigation of the rioting has already been inaugurated.

Premier Ferreira to-day gave out a statement to the public in which he said that order must be preserved and that the Government is prepared to adopt the most stringent measures to insure public peace and safety.

EARTHQUAKES IN ARIZONA.

Three Distinct Shocks Felt in the Douglas District.

BISBEE, Arizona, April 7.—Three distinct earthquake shocks were felt at Douglas during last night. The first was at 9 o'clock, the second two hours later, and the third and most severe at 3 o'clock this morning.

The district between Fronteras and Douglas appeared to be in the centre of the earthquake. Houses in Douglas trembled noticeably during the last shock, and the little town of Fronteras was thrown into panic. Workmen in the Pilaries mine at Pilaries thought an explosion or cave-in had occurred, and hurried from the mine. No damage is known to have been done by the quake.

DROP BALLOONS FOR AIRSHIPS.

The Aero Club of America to Make Experiments Near This City.

It became known yesterday that by a decision reached at the regular meeting on Monday night, the Aero Club of America will hereafter devote practically all of its energies toward the development of airships or flying machines which are heavier than the air. At the same time the ballooning interests in the club will continue to practice and develop their favorite sport. Experiments will be made near this city when a suitable site is found.

$3,000 HUNTER IS KILLED.

Lambart Dominick's Irish Jumper Breaks Neck in Meadow Brook Run.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST WILLISTON, L. I., April 7.—The loss of an imported Irish hunter valued at $3,000 deprived Lambart Dominick of all pleasure in the drag hunt of the Meadow Brook Club to-day.

Mr. Dominick put his horse, a splendid hunter, at a fence on the Rushmore farm, near Roslyn. The horse stumbled, and, landing on his head, broke his neck. Mr. Dominick came a bad cropper, but escaped serious injury.

Perfect weather, so generally welcomed, made hunting almost impossible. Of the large field which started over half were obliged to pull out on account of the heat, and the horses that finished were exhausted.

MAY ADVANCE FREIGHT RATES.

Reports That Trunk Lines Have Decided on 15 Per Cent. Increase.

Reports were in circulation yesterday that the railroads in the trunk line territory between New York and Chicago had reached an agreement to make a general advance of 15 per cent. in freight rates some time next month. Representatives of the leading lines in this territory denied that such advances had been decided upon.

So far as could be learned the matter has not gone beyond the informal talk on the subject which has been heard in railroad circles for some time. It is recognized that such an advance would be a very good thing for the railroads, but there is much difference of opinion regarding the feasibility of a general advance in freight rates at this time.

AUNT SALLY SCARED THIEF.

She's 104 Years Old, but the Burglar Ran from Her.

"Aunt" Sally Doremus, who is said to be the oldest woman in New Jersey, having recently passed her 104th birthday, had her first experience with a burglar early yesterday morning, and came out with credit.

She was aroused by a sound in her home at 26 Osborne Terrace, Newark, and demanded in a shrill voice who the intruder might be.

This was sufficient to frighten the burglar, for he fled, leaving a bundle of silverware on the floor. The only things the thief obtained were an overcoat, a pair of gold cuff buttons, and a small silver spoon. Mrs. Doremus was proud that her hearing should be better than any one else's in the house.

HE BARS THE COLLARLESS.

Paterson Theatre Manager Demands the Conventional Linen on Patrons.

PATERSON, N. J., April 7.—Unless you are wearing a stiff white collar you cannot occupy a seat in the orchestra of one of the theatres here. This new rule of the management became known the other night, when Harry Cooper, a prosperous young farmer of Saddle River, Bergen County, was forbidden to enter the orchestra because he was wearing a soft flannel shirt with a roll-over collar.

Cooper returned to Saddle River in an unpleasant frame of mind, and since the event he has not hesitated to express himself on the moral and aesthetic wave that is sweeping over Paterson.

ENGINE BLOWS UP ON THE RUN

Seven Men Hurt and Part of Locomotive Thrown 400 Yards.

UTICA, N. Y., April 7.—An engine hauling a work train on the Adirondack Division of the Central Hudson Railroad exploded at 10 o'clock this morning, severely injuring seven men on the engine at the time. The only thing that saved the lives of the men was the fact that the force of the explosion was downward.

A member of the train crew ran five miles to Saranac Inn and reported the accident. The injured men were taken to Saranac Lake. The seat upon which the engineer and conductor were sitting was blown nearly a quarter of a mile away, and the engine is a total wreck.

HALF A MILLION SEE AUTO PARADE

1,500 Cars in Line to Celebrate the Tenth Anniversary of the Trade.

SPORT'S PATRONS PLEASED

Queen on a Throne of Lilies—Old Cars in Contrast with New—Streets as at New Year's.

With 1,500 automobiles in a line stretching over five miles of the city streets, and in view of 500,000 spectators for five hours, the tenth anniversary of the automobile trade in New York was celebrated last night. The streets along the route of the procession were densely lined with people.

The cars were an hour and a half in passing a given point. They were watched with the liveliest interest and appreciation. The parade was more than an hour late in starting, but there was no sign of discontent in the waiting throng, and when the line of cars finally disbanded at Columbus Circle, after covering ten miles through the centre of the city, every one was well satisfied with the display.

Carnival week, which celebrates the tenth year of the New York Trade Association, has been looked forward to expectantly by thousands of automobilists for a long time. The public has been keenly interested in the promise of a notable show, and a notable show it proved. The festival spirit prevailed, and the crowds in the streets were quick to appreciate it. The celebration resembled nothing so much as that of New Year's Eve, when noise and confusion reigns and good-nature prevails. The discomforts of the crowd in getting to and fro were forgotten. Every one was eager to enjoy all that was enjoyable in the display.

Ten Years' Progress Shown.

The parade has figured as the most prominent single event of the week. It was expected that upward of 2,000 machines would be seen. These were classified to afford a graphic demonstration of the advance of automobiling during the ten years and to show the latest types of cars that the market now affords. This was the serious side of it. There were car models of ten and fifteen years ago, and in direct and striking contrast to these the luxurious vehicles of to-day. There were racing cars which will compete in the coming road race in Westchester County and historic cars, winners of past events. These were all intensely interesting to automobile students as well as instructive to the public.

The holiday feature of the occasion had a secondary place. This was seen in elaborately decorated and illuminated cars of the ingenious and attractive design. Many were grotesque and highly original, but the majority sought striking effects, and succeeded beyond expectation.

This division included probably 200 cars, many of them driven by private owners participating for the interest of the sport, and all of them attractive.

Finally the purely commercial aspect of the display found its place. All types of wagons used in commerce were shown in the last division. To many this proved the most instructive and interesting feature of the whole procession. Even after the hundreds of pleasure vehicles had passed, the crowd remained to see these commercial carriers and to wonder at the transformation which ten years have effected in this phase of the business.

Elaborate Decorations En Route.

Along the line of march thousands of business houses and hotels were decorated. The more elaborate of these were naturally in Automobile Row, from Times Square to Eighteth Street. The National colors prevailed, with fans and festoons of flags, and bunting in profusion. Some of the decorations were remarkably attractive, and when illuminated by the hundreds of searchlights of the autocars themselves, were seen to excellent advantage. From one end of the march to the other the enthusiasm was intense.

The cars formed on Broadway, between Fifty-second and Fifty-seventh Streets. This was the centre of interest, and thousands crowded there between 7 and 8 o'clock, while the autos waited the word to start. The old cars and the racing machines attracted the greatest attention. These were always surrounded by an intensely interested throng. They were in Fifty-seventh Street and stretched from Broadway to Ninth Avenue on both sides of the street. In Fifty-sixth Street were the latest models of the various makes of cars. A great crowd passed these in review, comparing the conspicuous features of this and that make with a familiarity that was impressive. In Fifty-fifth Street was the decorated division, where each feature was studied in close detail, while in the streets below were the commercial displays and the floats, which were to wind up the procession.

Queen on a Throne of Lilies.

The Grand Marshal's car, brilliantly illuminated, was a centre of interest as it stood at the Fifty-seventh Street corner waiting the word to go. Behind it was the Mora car, which was to carry the Queen of the Carnival, Mrs. Cuneo, the racing automobilist, whose keenness for the sport has won her tremendous popularity. This car was decorated with lilies, forming a bowered throne splendid enough for royal occupancy. Mrs. Cuneo, gowned in white and wearing the gilded crown, made a striking figure seated in it.

Behind this was the King's car, a Waltham, elaborately decorated, occupied by Charles Knight Clark, who had been elected by popular vote to head the carnival. These cars led the procession when it started at 8:30 o'clock, followed by the racing machines and the old-time models.

A boxlike machine over which was the sign, "Paris-New York Racer—Left Paris April 7, 1906—Reached New York April 7, 1908," was entered by Julian Durand. It was covered with mud, had cotton on its wheels to represent snow, had a pick and shovel, chains, ropes, &c., as if it had just come in from Alaska.

The Prize Winners.

The line of march was down Broadway to Twenty-fifth Street, up Fifth Avenue to Fifty-seventh Street, west to Broadway, and north to 110th Street, thence countermarching on Broadway to Columbus Circle, where the line disbanded. At Eighty-fourth Street was the reviewing stand. Here the judges of the carnival were seated and rendered their judgments upon the handsomest decoration and the most novel display. To the Oldsmobile was awarded the palm for the best decorated car. The De Witt Auto Company took the prize for the best grotesque display. There were other minor awards for various secondary features, all of which were well received.

The show continued for four hours all told, finishing shortly after 11 o'clock at Columbus Circle, but the celebration continued for several hours later in Automobile Row, where the promoters of the carnival were congratulated heartily upon the success of the first event and its promise of exceptional interest throughout the week.

Following directly behind the car carrying the King of the Carnival was the first division of the parade, in charge of Marshall Howard Wagner. This included the racing types and the old-time vehicles, presenting a most striking contrast. First of these were the Briarcliff cars, the machines which will race in a fortnight over the course in Westchester County in the stock car race. There were the three Stearns cars, driven by Barney Oldfield, Guy Vaughan, and R. G. Laird; the two Loziers, steered by Harry Michener and Ralph Mulford; the Allen-Kingston racer, in charge of Driver Campbell, the two Simplex cars, to be handled by Seymour and Watson, and the Apperson car, which Herbert Lytle will drive. These constituted the American representation in the Briarcliff event. Then there were the foreign representatives—the two Fiats, which Cedrino and Parker will drive; the three Isottas, to be handled by Poole, Harding, and Strang; George Robertson's Panhard, Bernin's, and Guggenheim's Renaults, Murphy's Maja, and the Bianchi car, just entered.

These were followed by other notable racers, headed by Cedrino in the Fiat Cyclone, which made sensational records at Ormond, winning the 256-mile race and making records for 160, 253, and 350 miles, and covering a mile in 35 seconds. The Renault car, which established the 100-mile record at Ormond of 72 minutes and 56½ seconds, at the rate of 82½ miles an hour, was also in line, as well as H. E. Trevor's Mercedes, the winner of the 1908 Paris-Madrid race, and the De Dietrich, which won the Coupé de la Press abroad. The Pullman car, covered with mud as though just off the road, was in line as the winner of the race from Philadelphia to Savannah, and the Frayer-Miller, which won the Long Island economy run in February, and the Matheson, which took the Wilkesbarre hill climb. Following these was the striking-looking twelve-cylinder Maxwell car, which was built to race at Ormond this year.

The historic division followed the racers and offered, perhaps, the most interesting feature of the parade. Leading the old-timers was the little Haynes car, which in 1893 Elmer Haynes designed and thought the acme of automobile excellence. Mr. Haynes came to New York to drive the car in the parade, and must have been himself impressed with the remarkable advance which the intervening fifteen years had produced. Behind the peculiar little car were ten cars representing the different Haynes models produced in each year of the last decade. The progress was significantly illustrated by them.

Three Panhard cars of 1898, 1899, and 1900, 6 and 7 horse power cars, offered a most striking contrast to the splendid palatial machines which bear the name to-day. A Welch car of 1901, which had covered 158,000 miles, "working every day in the year in the last eight years," as its inscription told, attracted general attention. It came from San Francisco to take part in this decennial celebration.

Another car that was worthy of notice was a 1900 White, which ran from Troy to New York to participate in the parade, and an 1895 Apperson, of curious construction, as well as a number of old-time, high-dashboard Oldsmobiles and a ten-year-old Buick.

To the student of automobiles this division of the parade alone was well worth any effort to view it, while followed as it was by the latest models of each make of car, in the special dealers' division, it was the more interesting and striking. It would be difficult to enumerate all the varieties of design displayed or to name all of the types in line. Among the better known firms displaying cars were:

In the decorated division there were fully two hundred cars, all of them more or less gorgeously arrayed. The decorations took mostly the form of flag and floral displays, some of them singularly ingenious and strikingly attractive. There were several grotesque effects, the most conspicuous, however, was the White Rat Presidential car, which carried five conspicuous examples of Presidential timber. The car was owned by C. J. Stine, who appeared as genial "Bill" Taft, with bland smile and abundant avoirdupois, and might have been the Secretary himself. Driving the car was W. E. Ritchie, who, in Rough Rider garb, typified Taft's Commander in Chief. Behind them were H. Knowles, with full white beard, arrayed in homespun, who gave an excellent portrayal of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, while J. Ten Broeke, in farmer's costume, showed William J. Bryan, and Harry Mountford as his Excellency Gov. Hughes. Along the entire line of the parade the advent of the car was hailed with shouts of pleasure. On the side of the car was the inscription: "New York to Paris," but Paris had been crossed out and Washington substituted.

C. R. Teaboldt in his Garford car, bedecked with flags, headed the division. Behind him was an elaborately festooned Ford six-cylinder, driven by George Hoetzer; E. Dietmold in an Oldsmobile, attractively covered with bright colored chrysanthemums followed, and then James Unger's Ford and Edwin Blumenstell's Olds, draped with flags. C. V. Palmer's Rochet-Schneider, draped in white bunting and illuminated with a number of acetylene lights, presented a striking display.

J. E. Fischer's car was uniquely decorated with collegiate flags and attracted considerable attention, while Bronson Howard's Oldsmobile, Dr. W. H. Nash's Mitchell, G. H. Wallace's Knox, and E. C. Buchigani's Oldsmobile all were tastefully dressed with flags and bunting. G. E. Knabe's Lozier, with a floral display, was especially attractive, while H. T. Pond's Rambler was very striking, bearing a decoration formed entirely by lemons. Throughout the entire division, the same elaborate displays of flowers and flags prevailed, all of them attractive, many of them peculiarly ingenious and interesting.

Dr. J. P. Thomas drove his decorated car, while before him ran his wind wagon, which attracted so much attention some time ago when he appeared with it on Broadway. It is a tricycle fitted with a powerful motor, which revolves a propeller behind. Devised to represent a flying machine, it attracted widespread attention, compelling notice by the strong current of air which it created, blowing gales into the crowds that lined the streets and sending everything flying before it.

The commercial division brought up the rear of the parade. In it were displayed scores of vehicles in use in various commercial enterprises. There were a number of floats typifying the trade and its allied interests. One which created considerable comment was a miniature foundry, illustrating the making of auto bodies, while immediately preceding it was a wagon in which stood a dray horse drawn by an automobile. The wagon bore the inscription, "Farewell, the horse," a prophetic declaration in which all those taking part in the parade agreed. Perhaps this expressed the sentiment of the celebration as well as it could be expressed and as graphically.

THE AWARDS OF THE JUDGES.

Oldsmobile Gets Prize for Best Decoration—Other Prizes.

President Colgate Hoyt of the Automobile Club of America, Winthrop E. Scarritt, Dr. Schuyler S. Wheeler, Robert Lee Morrell, and Dr. Parker of Brooklyn were the judges to pass upon the merits of the decorated machines. As the decorated section came down the west side of Broadway each machine stopped and saluted the impromptu reviewing stand.

There were many very artistic effects, but the officials unanimously gave the first award for the handsomest car to the Oldsmobile entered by Gen. John T. Cutting of the Oldsmobile Company in this city. The car was covered with California pampas grass, great streamers of the long, handsome grass completely covering the tonneau, while the occupants were attired in white. Benjamin Briscoe's Maxwell took the second prize. The car was magnificently decorated with flowers, roses, lilacs, and lilies, the wheels being completely hidden beneath the floral display. Another Oldsmobile was highly commended. This car, festooned with red and white electric lights, carried four young women in the tonneau, dressed to represent the four nations of America, France, Germany, and Italy.

The chauffeurs from the De Witt Auto Company went home happy, for their car won the prize for the most grotesque decorations. A big cooking stove was placed on the hood and the chauffeurs were dressed in the most outlandish manner, every one wearing a big mask, while two men attempted to play popular airs on wheezy cornets.

ELWOOD HAYNES ARRESTED.

Was Driving His First American-Built Machine Without a License Number.

Elwood Haynes, who supervised the construction of the first regularly built American automobile, came into town driving that same car yesterday afternoon, and was arrested for piloting the machine without a number showing. The car was built in 1893, and for several years has been an exhibit in the Smithsonian Institution, Washington.

Bicycle Policeman T. H. Kerrigan discovered that the Haynes number was missing, and placed the veteran auto builder under arrest at Broadway and Fifty-seventh Street. When he was arraigned in the West Side Court, the Magistrate, after listening to the history of the car, decided that he could very well let Mr. Haynes go and still keep within the law, and acted accordingly.

Soon after Mr. Haynes was brought in Bicycle Policeman Casey arrested Charles Kapper, chauffeur of Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt of 11 Lexington Avenue. Casey said Kapper was making twenty-two and one-half miles an hour between Forty-second and Forty-fourth Streets on Sixth Avenue. Later, Douglas Dean, a chauffeur employed by the Automobile Importing Company of 1,786 Broadway, was arrested for making twenty-two miles an hour between the same streets on the same avenue. Both chauffeurs were bailed out.

instantly, and it would have been certainly a case of apology or fight on the spot. The only thing which has protected Castro has been the consideration of the littleness and weakness of his country.

The State Department has always felt the same reluctance to deal summarily with him that a strong man feels about thrashing a little fellow. Castro has recognized that fact and played on it. He has recognized also the feeling in the Administration that the employment of force against him might have a bad effect on our relations with other Central and South American republics. The only question now is whether Congress will think it worth while to take on the disagreeable and more or less expensive job of teaching him a lesson.

There is a strong suspicion in Administration circles, however, that it will not be necessary to adopt active measures. It is believed that if Congress authorizes the President to act that will be all that is necessary. Castro is believed to be vigorously playing his old game of bluff, and if his bluff is called it is the expectation that he will come down without further ado.

Meantime both the army and navy naturally have under consideration their resources for a possible demonstration in Venezuelan waters should Congress direct the President to take such a step. The whole question has been thoroughly considered from every point of view. It was brought up again at to-day's Cabinet meeting, after having been discussed by the Cabinet at several previous sittings.

At no time since the Spanish war has the United States been at such a disadvantage for a demonstration in Venezuelan waters as now. The Atlantic is practically stripped of war craft, more than 90 per cent. of the naval strength being in foreign countries or with the Pacific fleet, leaving a total available force at all navy yards of scarcely 1,000 men and officers of the Marine Corps. Out of nearly 65,000 men and officers of the army there are scarcely 18,000 of mobile army stationed in the United States. It would require fully two weeks to mobilize 5,000 men, and difficulty would be found in obtaining transports to convey these.

The State Department would prefer to maintain two or three warships in Haitian waters yet a while, but the most formidable parts of the Atlantic remnants of the navy in service are now in those waters. All of the ships are old, and fit only for coast work. The Des Moines, Dubuque, Marietta, Paducah, and Eagle are now in Cuban-Hatian waters, and the Dolphin and Mayflower are en route. The Tacoma is at Curacao, but will have to come north for repairs. In case the navy should be called upon, the old battleship Indiana, at League Island, and the Iowa, at Norfolk, both in reserve for the last year, would be put into service. They are available on forty-eight hours' notice. The three big battleships Idaho, Mississippi, and New Hampshire will soon be ready for service.

PAINT TRADE BOOMING.

Firm That Took an Optimistic View Justified by the Result.

Whatever may be the feeling as to the business prospects of this year there is no doubt about the optimism in one important line of industry—the paint and varnish trade. In the big wholesale and retail establishment of F. W. Devoe & Co., down in Fulton Street, yesterday an assistant handed the chief salesman an order for inspection.

"You can't depend on the factory for that," said the chief salesman. "Unless you can raise an odd lot or two over in Brooklyn, we'll have to let it go.

"Busy?" he echoed in answer to a TIMES reporter, who had overheard and asked questions. "I should say we were busy. Our city factory is running three nights a week overtime, and our Brooklyn factory five nights a week overtime. Our whole trade, wholesale and retail, shows a gain of at least 6 per cent. in the last three months over the corresponding three months last year, and the retail trade, which is particularly my department, showed a 12 per cent. gain in the last month.

"No, we can't see any hard times. We have always stood with the people who looked on the bright side of things, and so far as we can see there is nothing to it any longer than the bright side. We never took any stock in the predictions of business depression, and the result, so far as we can see, showed that we were right. There's nothing wrong in our line of business."

The F. W. Devoe Company several weeks ago collected from the newspapers, largely from THE NEW YORK TIMES, a series of news reports indicating that the business prospect was not as gloomy as some would have people believe. It reprinted these in a large pamphlet and circulated the pamphlet in the trade at its own expense. The firm is now inclined to be quite pleased with that pamphlet and the attitude indicated in it.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—After many wonderful adventures we are in San Francisco. In the street two dozen jolly bandsmen, wearing magnificent white silk high hats with black frock coats, and all about them numbers of men and women, waited the arrival of the De Dion car.

When we were sighted the men signaled our approach by whistling through their fingers shrilly to atract the attention of their women friends who were standing on the stoops of the houses or leaning out of the windows. When the car arrived, the dignified looking musicians raised their instruments, and played a solemn tune as we passed.

The welcome in the city to the foreign car was so hospitable that we were literally thrown into the arms of a dozen young men, who pressed up close to the footboard of the car. As a sign of joy, and in order to preserve a souvenir of the event, they cut pieces off the canvas hood of the De Dion and took them away as relics.

When the De Dion arrived at Oakland, before we could count five the four places in the car were taken by ten or twelve young men and women who piled themselves into it for luck. We were escorted between houses that were black with people. Oakland is situated on the Bay of San Francisco, which is sixty miles around, and forms the harbor of that extraordinary city.

San Francisco lies between the humps of volcanic mountains under a blue sky cut by innumerable seagulls on the wing. The fleets of ships are sheltered in the recesses of the gulf and the little mountains.

A two-decked steamer conveyed the De Dion car across the bay to San Francisco, accompanied by thousands of curious people, who formed a voluntary escort in their anxiety to get the details of our trip. Some of the questions asked us by the inquisitive little boys were, "What is the power of your automobile? What is your age?"

The capital of the West is like that of ancient Rome, as the greater part of the streets are glorious ruins. The golden sunset is undulating, warm, and voluptuous. The rays light up again the ruined walls with a red glow. The women walk slowly, and with the whole surroundings indicate the approach of the Orient for which San Francisco is the port.

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 7.—The wind is blowing and the sun is sending its rays on the Sierra Nevadas. The De Dion is traversing the most beautiful country seen in America. The green trees on the red soil, the curves of the road on the hills, the rivers crossing the way are passed with pleasure by the contestants going to San Francisco.

We have been stopped on the way at San José by all the French colony presided over by Mr. Ferbos. Banquets arise as fast as flowers from this rich soil, and we cannot pass. We must stay an hour. All the town is gay with flags, and the tricolor is in the street on all sides.

California has the nicest sun in the world, but this sun was timid yesterday. In the early morning it went to bed and was covered by clouds of dust. It is the first day in two years that they had had such bad weather, said somebody at Fresno. Just what we expected. The New York to Paris racers cannot have a common sun or no trouble. It would be unfair. The roads were pretty rough and flat, and we could see nothing one yard ahead except dust.

When crossing two small towns the dust was less intense. We found ourselves first in an Italian village and second in a Japanese town, both bearing flowery names. Since we left the backbone of the Rockies we have met the yellow men clothed as American gentlemen. They are cooks, and the worst kind of cooks an honorable Frenchman can meet. All the Chinese of the sweet town, where, perhaps, the cooks wait for a job, waited in the street. I don't know why.

The Italian place was more interesting. In California twenty acres are sufficient to make a man rich. These twenty acres rise in price from $40 to $150 after three years of culture. Oranges and fruits of every kind grow in places that one may suppose to be deserts. All find a big market. Furthermore, black pigs, white calves, and beautiful horses feel themselves very comfortable in the fields where grass is fine, and they grow as well as the fruits. Then after three years an Italian is wealthy. He sells his property, and being richer, goes back to the other country of the sun.

No ground, no climate is to be found in the States which more impress a stranger than California. The road is covered with sand, but on both sides of the way the fields are green or covered with precious trees of the most expansive culture. Nothing asks labor. If water comes everything grows, and water comes at the price of $1 an acre for a year. A large system of irrigation makes of California a second Egypt richer than the old one. This wealth is the reason why everybody begins to have automobiles.

BOURCIER ST. CHAFFRAY.

CALIFORNIA LIKE ITALY.

Scarfoglio Tells of Reception to the Zust Car.

Following is the description of the passage of the Zust, Italian car, in the New York to Paris race, from Daggett, Cal., to San Francisco, written by Antonio Scarfoglio, one of the crew, for The London Daily Mail and published in that newspaper yesterday morning:

"It looks as if California was going to give us a little enjoyment, after much horrible lonesomeness, and here is the most sweet, most green, and most rich countryside ever seen by human eye. At Daggett the desert is finished and cut off very sharply by an immense number of trees that proceed from Los Angeles in the direction of San Bernardino.

"The road runs here among woods full of acacias and jasmine and cypress trees, and is running at the edge of a very high and dangerous embankment. It is descending very fast in the direction of the valley and the sea, which must be way over there on the other side of the mountains of the Sierra Nevada, but which we cannot see. At San Bernardino, the beautiful city of the south, where the hot atmosphere and hot sun make the roads like fire, the descending stops.

"A beautiful asphalt road is open in front of our eyes—straight, large—which runs between two beautiful files of immense trees as far as Los Angeles, and here the Zust machine is flying—it is not running—on the beautiful road.

Houses Covered with Flowers.

"The small houses, quiet and covered with clematis, which has run over all the walls and also has dared to grow inside of the windows, are passing alongside of the machine in a hurry. From the numerous groves full of orange trees, which are now in flower, the perfume is coming to us in waves, and this perfume is so acute and strong that it goes to our brains as a sensation of exhilaration.

"It seems to us to be a glorious and rich Venice. All our country, in different sections, is in front of our eyes, and this combination in this beautiful corner of the world is called California. The only thing that is not here is the sea—the sea which is the essence of the beauty of our home country—but the sea is there, behind the mountains, and in this direction our Zust is rupning furiously, as a wild beast that is trying to run down an adversary.

First Sight of the Sea.

"Here is the sea! Finally we behold it and the little islands, more azure than the sea, are in view. They seem to us like big galleons cutting the waves. This is the ocean—the sea which we have conquered after fifty-two days of work through 4,000 miles of a very hard road, through valleys, desert, mountains, snow, imposing hills—the sea that nobody thought we could reach, and yet we ourselves behold it to-day and admire the small waves which are breaking on the stony beach.

"The first barrier is down! The first battle is won! The other battles we shall win with more hardship and more blood—but we shall win them just the same, as we have won to-day. All the crew of the Zust is to-day in front of this sea, and has regained energy and is ready to tackle the second test.

Cities Full of Sun.

"Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Santa Clara, Arroyo Grande, St. Joseph—all are to us a souvenir. These small cities, full of sun and full of beautiful women dressed in white, pausing among the trees, full of autos bearing different flags, ribbons, hurrahs, and applause!

"San Francisco is the only one that has left a very deep impression on our minds—this city, full of ruins, walls, full of thousands of people applauding us, the windows filled with curious faces, the trolley cars stopping everywhere, men and women looking from terraces and from the lighting poles—everywhere nothing but hurrah! hurrah!

"From the thousands of gardens full of perfumes, alongside the small hills, San Francisco had got flowers by the bundle, and all this jolly spring has been showered on the Zust car until it looks as if it were a wandering garden, and we are all as happy as carnival merry-makers."

TROUBLES OF GERMAN CREW.

Protos Car Again Disabled and Must Return to Ogden.

Special to The New York Times.

KELTON, Utah, April 7.—The succession of misfortunes which have met the Protos car since it set out from New York in the race to Paris culminated to-day in another bad breakdown west of here. On account of a heavy sandstorm prevailing all day, it was impossible to bring the car back here, and it remains twenty miles west of this city until to-morrow. Lieut. Koeppen telegraphed to Ogden asking that a train be sent here over the old disused Central Pacific tracks to carry the machine back to Ogden. It will be repaired there at the Union Pacific shops in the next few days and will start out again from Ogden when the motor is fixed.

Lieut. Koeppen left here immediately to go to Seattle to secure needed spare parts that await him there. He will bring them back to Ogden immediately.

In the face of their many mishaps the pluck and determination of the Germans to finish in the race has won general admiration. Lieut. Koeppen declared to-day that it was his intention to go to Paris in the car, no matter how many or how long the delays. He thinks the others will have their share of misfortune later, and that his chances of finishing well in the race are still good.

REFUSES TO INDORSE TAFT.

Delaware Republicans Reject Instructions—South Dakota for Bryan.

DOVER, Del., April 7.—The Republican State Convention to-day elected delegates to Chicago. They were not instructed. The convention was harmonious. A resolution directing the National delegates to support Secretary of War Taft for the Presidential nomination was defeated overwhelmingly.

The convention was in control of the State organization headed by United States Senators Du Pont and Richardson.

The platform indorses the Administration of President Roosevelt and the State administration, and commends the President's recent course in the enforcement of his policies. It also favors a revision of the tariff.

The delegates selected are United States Senators Henry A. Du Pont and Harry A. Richardson, Gov. Preston Lea, Congressman Hiram R. Burton, Walter O. Hoffecker, and John C. Townsend.

TAFT WINS SOUTH DAKOTA.

HUGHES STILL IN THE RACE.

Positively Denies Boston Rumors That He Has Withdrawn.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—The attention of Gov. Hughes was called to-night to a Boston dispatch to the effect that he has decided to withdraw from the Presidential race. Gov. Hughes was positive in his denial.

There has been no change in his attitude toward the Presidency, and it was declared that he stands in the same position as announced in his early utterances upon the subject. Friends of the Governor to-day took occasion to again deny the report that he will become a candidate for Vice President.

Gov. Hughes has no intention of quitting the Presidential race, according to Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, President of the National Hughes League, who is known to have the Governor's confidence. The General intimated last night that the report that the Governor was discouraged with the progress of his boom and was about to withdraw was a signal of distress hoisted by the Taft supporters.

DELEGATES FOR HUGHES.

Majority of Those Chosen Here Will Go to State Convention Instructed.

Conventions were held in each Assembly district in New York County by the Republicans last night, resulting in the selection of delegates to the State Convention which is to be held here next Saturday.

A large majority of the delegates elected were instructed to vote for delegates at large who would support Gov. Hughes at the National Convention in Chicago. Practically the only fight worthy of the name which developed was that in the Fifteenth District, where Lemuel E. Quigg made his presence known unavailingly.

Several of the districts sent their delegates to the convention without instructions. It was noticeable that two that did this were Odell districts—that presided over by William H. Ten Eyck, the Thirty-second, and the Thirty-third, of which Edward H. Healy is the leader, and also in the Thirtieth, where Frank K. Bowers, who is generally believed to be a recent Odell convert, is the leader.

Some of the conventions in Parsons's districts, on the other hand, passed resolutions lauding the Governor's administration and instructing the delegates to stand for him to the end. This was particularly true of the Twenty-fifth, where Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, President of the National Hughes League, heads the delegation. In the Second District, of which Joseph Levinson, who is suspected of being a Cannon supporter, is leader, the delegates were instructed to follow the guidance of their Chairman.

Instructed for Hughes.

OSWEGO, N. Y., April 7.—The Oswego Republican County Convention at Pulaski to-day selected delegates to the State Convention. They were instructed to vote for National delegates favorable to Gov. Hughes for President.

Delegates to the Congressional Convention were instructed to support L. W. Mott for National delegate from this district. The other National delegate will be Senator George H. Cobb of Watertown.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 7.—In the second St. Lawrence Assembly Republican District Convention, held at Canton to-day, Majority Leader Edward A. Merritt was nominated to succeed himself as member of the Assembly. Mr. Merritt also heads the delegation to the State Convention. At the First Assembly District Republican Convention of St. Lawrence County at Ogdensburg Fred J. Gray was renominated for member of Assembly.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 7.—The Republicans of Onondaga County held conventions in the three Assembly districts to-day. In the Second District Francis Hendricks, ex-Superintendent of Insurance, was chosen. A resolution was adopted at the Second District Convention indorsing Frederick R. Hazard for election as one of the delegates at large to the Chicago convention.

The Republican "Big Four."

As the time draws near for the Republican State Convention speculation is still rife as to the men who are to constitute the "big four" from this State to the National Convention. There is very little question but that Gen. Stewart L. Woodford and Seth Low will be two of the number. Congressman Herbert Parsons, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, came out yesterday in favor of them.

It is practically certain that President Schurman of Cornell University will be another of the quartet. Who the fourth man will be is an open question.

The two best guesses seem to be Charles H. Young, President of the Republican Club of this city, and F. H. Hazzard of Syracuse.

ARREST AT MEETING IN COOPER UNION

Labor Agitator Distributed Circulars Attacking W. M. Ivins, Who Spoke.

LET GO IN NIGHT COURT

People's Institute Meeting to Discuss Traction Matters Thrown Into Confusion.

William M. Ivins, special counsel to the Public Service Commission, spoke last night to the members of the People's Institute at Cooper Union on the rapid transit problem. Before he had progressed very far in his remarks it became evident that organized opposition was present, although what it was opposed to was not very clear. Interruptions were frequent, and finally Luther S. Bedford, a compositor, of 63 Grove Street, who had been distributing pamphlets containing an attack on Mr. Ivins to all present, became so noisy that he was arrested.

Taken before Magistrate Moss in the Night Court on a charge of disorderly conduct, Bedford was discharged with a reprimand. He then returned to the meeting and continued his tactics. Finally the meeting broke up in confusion.

Charles Sprague Smith, Director of the institute, who appeared against Bedford in the Police Court, said the latter had made it a practice to attend the meetings of the institute in order to stir up trouble. It was while Mr. Ivins was speaking that Mr. Smith, who was presiding at the meeting, noticed Bedford moving from seat to seat handing out a small pamphlet. Mr. Smith interrupted Mr. Ivins, and addressing the meeting, said:

"No man has the right to pass around literature of this type at our meetings. This man Bedford is the type of man who comes here to insult our speakers. He has not the honesty to print what he has to say in English, but must needs use a cryptogram. I will translate it for you."

Translation of the Cipher.

Mr. Smith then read the translation, which was headed, "Behold, I shew you a mystery," I. Cor. xv., 51. The cipher was in figures, numerals being used in place of letters. It read:

"When the game to amend the transit law is blocked here to-night the transit thieves will then attempt to smother the bill exempting traction bonds from the debt limit.

"Ivins, the tool of traction thieves, is to pose as the man who blocked this job to-night if he cannot get it through."

Mr. Ivins remarked that a man who attended the meeting and distributed a document written in cipher was a sneak, coward, and cur.

Bedford excitedly jumped up, and shouted that he was no coward, and could prove everything he said. In an instant the meeting was in an uproar. Cries of "Put him out" mingled with those of "Give him a chance." Twenty people were on their feet talking at once. Finally Mr. Smith's voice could be heard shouting:

"I'll have you arrested."

"And I'll go personally to the station and lodge a complaint against you. Any man coming here with villainous libels ought to be arrested," shouted Mr. Ivins.

The excitement was intense. Dozens tried to quiet Bedford. Then the police were called in, and Bedford was taken struggling from the hall. Mr. Smith left the platform and followed to the Fifth Street Station House, where Bedford was taken.

After the charge had been entered all went to the Night Court, where, after a warning, Bedford was discharged.

Row Renewed After Arrest.

Both Mr. Smith and Bedford returned to Cooper Union, reaching there as the meeting was about to break up. Bedford, still bent on putting his resolutions before the meeting, made a long harangue, in which he denounced Mr. Ivins and became extremely personal. However, he succeeded in reading his resolutions, which he demanded that Mr. Smith put to the meeting.

Mr. Smith pleaded that the hour was late, that the resolutions were an insult to Gov. Hughes, and asked that no hasty action by members of the People's Institute be taken. He said an adjournment was in order. Then followed a repetition of the scene earlier in the evening. Every one seemed to be shouting at once.

Mr. Smith refused to put the Bedford resolutions, but offered as a compromise to give another evening to their discussion, if some one would find $100 for the cost of hiring the hall. Frederic Cyrus Leubuscher, a lawyer of 258 Broadway, guaranteed this, and April 28 was set for the date of the meeting.

Bedford still insisted that his resolutions be put, and surrounded by a crowd of sympathizers, and with nearly all the lights in the hall put out, he called for a vote. They were almost unanimously passed, although it is fair to state that by this time there were scarcely 300 people in the hall.

The resolutions said:

Whereas, A bill has been favorably reported in the Legislature carrying out the recommendations of Gov. Hughes, allowing future subways to be constructed by private capital, and extending the leasing term of those to be built by the city; and

Whereas, The people of New York, having voted in 1894 for "municipal construction of rapid transit roads" by an enormous majority, (an issue forced upon public attention by organized labor;) therefore be it

Resolved, That we denounce the audacious attempt now being made to violate the people's will by a mere act of the Legislature.

Resolved, That we denounce the proposed extension of the leasing term as a means of getting contractors to construct and operate subways, this being a violation of the resolution of the Board of Aldermen (the last free expression of the people's will) that the roads be not leased, if leased at all, until after completion, when their true value is known; be it further

Resolved, That the People's Institute hold a mass meeting to protest against these proposed changes in the Rapid Transit Law, Gov. Hughes to be invited to address the same, (the date to be set to meet the convenience of the Governor,) confident as we are no audience could be gathered in all New York that would countenance these amazing outrages.

Opposition Based on Error.

Mr. Ivins could not understand the opposition of Bedford, which seemed to be based on an idea that Mr. Ivins favored an amendment of the Elsberg bill, whereas Mr. Ivins said he has all along taken the position that a fair trial be given the law as it now stands.

In his remarks Mr. Ivins said that the profit to the people who built the subway was between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 on the contract price of $35,000,000. He said that franchises in the city would never again be parted with in perpetuity.

In speaking of the work done by the Public Service Commission Mr. Ivins said they began as they should—in examining the old routes to see which paid and which did not. When this was done and a line of action had been decided on the calamitous panic of last Fall came. The city had to go to Wall Street and borrow money at as high as 6 per cent. to meet its current expenditures.

"Very few in town to-day," said Mr. Ivins, "realize how close the city was to bankruptcy then. The best evidence of this is the high rates it had to give for money to carry on the city work."

Referring to the city's debt limit, Mr. Ivins said that Controller Metz has said that it will not permit us to borrow money at the present time for the construction of subways. He said it seemed as if Mr. Metz did not know what was left of the limit to spend.

Makes a Plea for Subways.

"On Monday," he said, "Mr. Metz says there is $75,000; on Tuesday $15,000, on Wednesday none at all, on Thursday he announces $23,000,000 Friday $40,000,000, and then on Saturday he comes out with a final $7,000,000."

Mr. Ivins said that despite this the city would have subways; one on the east side, a west side subway, a crosstown subway through Canal Street connecting with the bridges, and the Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, extending well down to Coney Island.

"The contracts for these four subways have not been let," said Mr. Ivins, "because it is necessary to have the approval of the Board of Estimate. It finds it cannot give that permission because the city is not in a position to pay for them."

Mr. Ivins said it was quite possible, however, for work to be begun on all four of them, building them in sections, which he believed to be the true way. He was not in favor of waiting to get a bid for the whole work.

"Despite what Mr. Metz says, I believe the debt limit is such as to permit the immediate commencement of work on the four subways I have mentioned without in any way endangering the borrowing powers of the city," said Mr. Ivins amid the greatest applause of the evening.

He held that if a subway was found to be a paying proposition, it did not increase the debt limit, but rather decreased it, and enriched the city. And with this in view the Charter Revision Committee had unanimously passed a resolution that bonds for such ventures should be taken from the debt limit.

Ivins for the Elsberg Law.

Regarding the Elsberg law, Mr. Ivins said that it had not had a fair chance. First the old Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners were in its way, then came the panic, and now the debt limit.

"I believe that we must not only own our subways, but construct and operate them, and while on this subject I also believe that the only way out of the muddle into which our surface railroads have got is that they must belong to the city. There is only one thing to be done in regard to the proposed change in the Elsberg law. We must stick to our guns and say we meant it."

Assemblyman W. M. Bennett in the course of some remarks on the debt limit severely criticised the method of bookkeeping in vogue in the Controller's office. He urged that an investigation be held on this point "so that the taxpayers may know what has become of their money."

Mr. Bennett said that the city's debt now amounted to over $700,000,000, "which is more than the debt of the United States."

Other speakers were J. Aspinall Hodge and ex-Judge Julius Henry Cohen.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY SALE.

Magazine Control Bought by Ellery Sedgwick—McClure Co. Changes.

The Atlantic Monthly, which was made famous early in the country's literary history by Whittier, Lowell, Holmes, and other writers, has been purchased by a syndicate headed by Ellery Sedgwick. This announcement comes at the same time as one from the offices of the S. S. McClure Company to the effect that S. S. McClure has bought practically all the stock of both the S. S. McClure Company and the McClure Company.

Those associated with Mr. Sedgwick in the purchase of The Atlantic Monthly are Waldo E. Forbes, MacGregor Jenkins, and Roger Pierce. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., who for thirty-five years owned The Atlantic Monthly, will retain a small interest in the magazine. The policy of the periodical will remain unchanged. Bliss Perry will be retained as editor-in-chief, and the editorial staff will remain unchanged.

Mr. Sedgwick said yesterday that the control of the magazine was sold by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. in order to safeguard its future, as no member of the firm could spare time to devote to the active management of the publication.

"We think our purchase of the magazine will insure its publication for at least another generation," said Mr. Sedgwick.

Col. McClure's additional holdings in the two companies which bear his name were obtained by his purchase of the stock of Harold Roberts, who a year ago purchased a large block of stock from Mr. McClure. It is announced that a disagreement between Mr. Roberts and Col. McClure as to the future policy of the McClure publications led Mr. Roberts to sever his connection with the two concerns.

Mr. Roberts was Secretary and Treasurer of the McClure Company. He has been succeeded by Cameron MacKenzie, son-in-law of Mr. McClure.

APPEAL FOR MOUNTAINEERS.

"The Sunday Lady" Tells of Her Mission Among Georgia's Poor Whites.

Through the eloquence of Miss Martha Berry—"the Sunday lady" they call her in the South—the cause of the Southern Industrial Educational Association was advanced materially yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the ballroom of the Plaza. The meeting, held under the auspices of the New York auxiliary, was to acquaint the hearers with the necessity of helping the mountaineers of the South.

Miss Berry, a daughter of Judge Berry of Rome, Ga., was the principal speaker. She has given not only ten years of her life to the work of elevating the illiterate whites, but a large part of her fortune. Gen. Stewart L. Woodford presided. Mrs. Lowrie Bell, Bishop Horner of Asheville, the Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, and John Temple Graves were the other speakers.

As Miss Berry recounted incidents of her work and the many cases which came under her observation, the audience responded warmly. As a result of this earnest appeal some generous donations were made.

THRONG AT AUCTION IN FIFTH AV. HOTEL

Women in the Majority at First Day's Sale of Fifth Floor Effects.

A SOUVENIR THERMOMETER

But Dealers Pick Up Most of the Bargains—First Day Nets $5,500—Property Transferred.

Nineteen hundred and ninety women had the time of their lives at the opening day of the sale of the effects of the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday. This number represented the feminine proportion of the thousands of persons who crowded the old hotel. The men present were dealers, with the exception of a few husbands, and they didn't count one way or the other.

Most of the women never before had the chance of getting into a big hotel, and their enjoyment was warm and intense. There was no doubt about the warm part, for the day was hot, the crowd dense, and most of the women were stout.

"Fat?" said one of the auctioneer's men, who had to push through the crowd now and then, "if half of those women weigh 100 they weigh 250."

They had come for pleasure and got it. They gobbled up the catalogues, and before the day was half gone there wasn't a catalogue to be had. Then they made for the elevator, which took them to the fifth floor, which was sold out yesterday. They didn't care for the "Amen Corner" they didn't know anything about it, and the "Rum, Romanism, and Rebellion" step had no meaning for them.

They followed the auctioneer around from room to room with the idea of getting bargains, and shrill feminine voices could be heard above all the others: "One dollar"; "one dollar ten," stopping at that, after which the chair or pair of chairs would be knocked down to a dealer.

Half the time the crowd was so great that those on the outskirts could not see what was being sold, and the women had the best times sitting around the different rooms, on the dismantled beds, and it will be history in many families that the mothers once sat on a Fifth Avenue Hotel mattress, or in one of the upholstered chairs in the more elaborate suites of rooms.

"This suit" (it was a three-room corner suite with bath) "must have brought in a pile of money in its time," soliloquized one woman. "Fifth Avenue is an awful busy place, ain't it?" she continued, looking from the window. "I wonder if there is an ice-cream place near here. I must go and get some, I'm so hot."

The elevator took passengers up, but they were obliged to walk down, and once up most of the crowd stayed.

"How long have you been here?" asked one tired looking woman of another late in the afternoon.

"Since 10 o'clock this morning," said the second woman, "and I'm most dead."

It is the rooms on the lower floors in which patrons of the hotel have been born or married, or which distinguished people have honored with their presence at one time or another which draw the souvenir seekers.

One relic which went yesterday was the first article to go at special sale. It was the thermometer from the office and was bought by ex-Mayor F. L. Osgood of Norwich, Conn., for $7.

"I want it as a souvenir of the hot and the cold times I have had in this old hotel for the past thirty years," said Mr. Osgood.

Of the pictures in the hotel there are four in the private office which will not be sold. Three of these are portraits of Paran Stevens, A. B. Darling, and Hiram Hitchcock, the founder and original proprietors of the hotel. They are to go to the Hotel Association to be hung in its clubroom. A picture of the hotel and Madison Square Mr. Eno will take and it will be hung in the new building.

John Schreiber, collector of pictures and adjuster of the tonsorial affairs of the Fifth Avenue Hotel patrons, sat among his pictures yesterday afternoon, the only man connected with the establishment who could remember it from the beginning. He came from Boston with Paran Stevens forty-nine years ago, became a part of the hotel when it was new, and is the only living survivor.

On the plush seats under a large sign reading "This is the famous Amen Corner," all sorts of people sat all day long, a strange-looking assemblage, most of it, but the big corridor had such an unnatural appearance that these people did not seem out of place.

Yesterday's was a good sale, A. W. Clarke, the auctioneer, said, and the returns were $5,500.

The transfer of the Fifth Avenue Hotel and Madison Square Theatre properties by Henry C. Eno to the Fifth Avenue Building Company was recorded yesterday. The expressed consideration was $1,000. The properties carry a mortgage of $2,570,000

$55,000,000 BOND CASE UP.

Utilities Board Gives Another Hearing as to Interborough's Proposed Issue.

There was another hearing yesterday before the Public Service Commission on the application of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for permission to mortgage its property for $55,000,000 and issue securities for that amount. The evidence, given by Marvyn Scudder, F. J. Gaynor, Theodore P. Shonts, and E. P. Bryan, the three latter on behalf of the company, was largely technical, and had to do with the assets of the company at the present time.

At one point William M. Ivins, for the commission, asked Mr. Gaynor, who is the auditor of the company, about the earnings. The witness said that the total operating expenses amounted to 41 per cent. of the receipts, and that out of this about 10 per cent. of the total receipts had been used for maintenance. The estimates for next year had increased the amount to 45 per cent. Mr. Ivins then asked if when the commission ordered improvements to the amount of about $1,250,000, it would not wipe out the company's surplus of $800,000.

"It would for that one year," replied Mr. Gaynor.

"You recognize such orders from the commission as a serious danger, don't you?"

"I am so anxious that the equipment of the company should be kept in the best possible condition that such a possibility does not alarm me," said the witness.

JUST A QUESTION OF TIGHTS.

Can Actress Who Wouldn't Wear Them Collect $3,950 on Contract?

Supreme Court Justice Gerard and a jury listened all day yesterday to evidence in a suit brought by Mrs. Henrietta Lee Morrison, an actress, professionally known as Henrietta Lee, to recover from Hurtig & Seamon, theatrical managers, $3,950 salary for herself and husband, Charles P. Morrison.

The knotty point to be decided is whether or not the managers had the right to demand that Miss Lee appear in tights in a certain scene in the musical comedy, "Me, Him, and I," after she had dressed for the part in feminine style for three months.

Miss Lee was engaged at a salary of $175 a week to star in the piece, in which her husband also appeared. After it had been running three months the defendants requested her to wear tights, saying that it would make one scene more effective. Miss Lee declined and was discharged. She is suing for the balance of salary, which she alleges is due her and her husband under their contract.

The case will go on to-day.

Wasserman Fights for Reinstatement.

Abraham Levy, attorney for Policeman Joseph Wasserman, formerly of District Attorney Jerome's staff, who was recently reduced from the rank of Sergeant, got a writ of certiorari yesterday from Justice Hendrick, commanding Commissioner Bingham to reinstate Wasserman as Sergeant or to show cause why he should not do so. The writ is returnable in twenty days.

DR. KOCH, SCIENTIST, HERE ON WORLD TOUR

Famous Medical Savant Arrives with His Wife on North German Lloyd Liner.

WILL SOON GO ON TO JAPAN

Mrs. Koch Describes Their Life in Africa, Where He Studied the "Sleeping Sickness."

Dr. Robert Koch, the famous bacteriologist, arrived here yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, accompanied by his wife, on a tour of the world. As the liner came up the bay he stood on the boat deck taking in a view of the harbor, hemmed in by reporters and photographers.

"Let me see the harbor!" he exclaimed, "and then I will talk."

In appearance Dr. Koch is a typical German professor, with gray hair and beard. A pair of bright blue eyes twinkle through gold-rimmed spectacles. Mrs. Koch is an attractive blonde, much younger than her scientific husband. She takes a deep interest in his work, and has accompanied him on many of his long, hazardous journeys in search of the elusive bacillus.

Dr. Koch was met at the Quarantine Station by a committee from the German Medical Society of New York, among them Dr. Carl Beck, the President; Dr. Herman Fischer, Dr. Joseph Gleitsmann, Dr. George Heimrond of the Rockefeller Institute, and Dr. Alfred Meyer of Mount Sinai Hospital. After Dr. Beck had presented Mrs. Koch with a bouquet of roses he courteously presented the reporters to her husband and asked him to make a statement for the New York papers.

"I expect to stay in New York until April 11 or 12," said the distinguished visitor in perfect English. "From here I shall go to Niagara Falls, and from there to Chicago to see a brother who lives in that city. I shall go thence to St. Louis, and on to San Francisco as quickly as possible, because I wish to get to Japan. Most of my time will be spent in that country, as it has the most interest for me from a scientific point of view.

"I have been to Africa five times in the course of my work, and hope I shall not have to go there again. That is not certain, however, because the fourth time I went I said the same thing, but in a few months after my return to Berlin my plans were all made to start again."

"What do you think of the vivisection bill that is before the Legislature of this State?" Dr. Koch was asked.

"You can do what you like in America about vivisection, but my advice is to do as the people do in Germany and let it alone."

"Have you any opinion to express about Prof. Metchnikoff's theory for prolonging life on a sour-milk diet?" the scientist was asked.

"No; I know him personally and esteem him very highly, but I never express an opinion upon subjects with which I have had no experience."

Investigating the Sleeping Sickness.

Mrs. Koch came to the rescue of her husband, and told the reporters some of their experiences when she accompanied him to East Africa in search of the germ of the "sleeping sickness" that has caused so many deaths among whites and blacks in that region.

"We are taking this long vacation," said Mrs. Koch in excellent English, "because my husband had such a strenuous time during the last eighteen months he spent in Africa on an island in Lake Victoria Nyanza.

"I spent nine months of that time with him on the island, but I was taken ill and had to go down to the coast to recuperate. He went there to study the sleeping sickness, which had created such havoc in the German colonies and is now ravaging the British colonies.

"As a result of his studies, Dr. Koch, by numerous experiments, prepared his remedy, 'atoxile,' which is the only known cure for the disease. While we were there 1,000 blacks died from the malady, which attacked whites and blacks alike. Two English surgeons died from the disease, and several other white men who were out there investigating the germ of the disease in the cause of science."

Mrs. Koch said that the first stage of the disease produced great excitement, the second insanity, followed by a comatose condition that lasted for several days and ended in the death of the sufferer.

Just then Mrs. Koch caught sight of the Statue of Liberty.

"That's inspiring, indeed!" she exclaimed.

In describing the manner in which the deadly germ of the "sleeping sickness" is carried from one village to another, Mrs. Koch said that the cause of all the infection was a fly, called by naturalists the "Glosina Polpalis," which preys on crocodiles and hippopotami. It is found in swarms on the banks of the rivers and lakes in Africa.

View of the Skyscrapers.

Both Dr. Koch and his wife took great interest in the panorama of the harbor as the liner steamed up the bay to her pier in Hoboken. Dr. Beck pointed out the various skyscrapers in the city, including the Singer and Times Buildings.

Dr. Beck handed a letter to Dr. Koch from Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German Ambassador at Washington, regretting his inability to be present and requesting Dr. Beck to thank Andrew Carnegie in the name of Emperor William for all he had done for the scientific world.

To Inspect Hospitals.

From the pier Dr. and Mrs. Koch were driven to the Plaza, where they will stay while in New York. Besides a visit to the Museum of Natural History, Dr. Koch will inspect many of the hospitals of the city.

On his way home from Japan via the Suez Canal, Dr. Koch will devote some time to the study of the bubonic plague in India and its contagion through the rats that infest that country.

Dr. Koch is in his sixty-fifth year, but is still in the vigor of life and very active. He revels in work, and during his recent trip to Africa he frequently spent twelve to fifteen hours a day in his improvised laboratory.

Mrs. Koch admitted she was not a scientist, but naïvely added, "What woman could help taking an interest in it if she was married to a man like that?"

MAY BUY BATTLESHIPS.

Report That Brazil and Italy Will Sell Big War Vessels.

LONDON, April 7.—Interest has been aroused in naval circles by the report that the British Admiralty is considering the purchase of the two big battleships now being built in this country for Brazil. It is pointed out that Brazil has no need for two such powerful ships, which, in addition to their original great cost, will be expensive to maintain. It is certain that Great Britain will buy these vessels should this be the only way of preventing their falling into the hands of another European power.

RIO JANEIRO, April 7.—Information obtained from an official source to-day leads to the belief that Italy is ready to sell to the Argentine for $20,000,000 the three battleships Regina Elena, Napoli, and Roma. The Argentine is thought to be contemplating this increase in her navy to counterbalance the projects of Brazil to augment her strength at sea.

TURKEY NOT PLANNING WAR.

Assures Russia That Troops Are Gathered to Guard Against Revolt.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 7.—Alarmed at a revival of the rumors that war is impending between Russia and Turkey, the Turkish Ambassador to Russia to-day called upon Foreign Minister Iswolsky and reiterated the previous denials of his Government that the Turkish military preparations in Northeastern Turkey were directed against Russia.

The mobilization of troops and particularly the dispatch of several battalions to Van had been carried forward in order to cope with the Armenian revolutionary movement in that district.

BRITISH CABINET FORECAST.

Churchill Slated for President of the Board of Trade.

LONDON, April 7.—Herbert Asquith, who has gone to Biarritz to see King Edward with reference to the formation of a new Cabinet, will not return to London until next Saturday. The Daily Chronicle, which may be regarded as a good authority, gives this forecast of the probably changes in the Cabinet:

H. H. Asquith, Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury.
David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer.
Lord Tweedmouth, President of the Council.
Earl of Crewe, Secretary of State for the Colonies.
Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty.
Winston Spencer Churchill, President of the Board of Trade.
Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Education.

Sir Alfred Mosely Coming Here Again.

Sir Alfred Mosely of England, who in 1906-07 brought 500 English school teachers to this country to study American teaching methods, will arrive again on Friday on the Baltic. Sir Alfred is considerably disappointed that the New York Board of Education decided to permit only twenty teachers to visit Europe this Spring and Summer.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

PEKING, April 7.—The Throne to-day issued an edict appropriating 90,000 taels for the creation of an Opium Board at Peking. It shall be the duty of this board to examine all metropolitan officials in the matter of their use of this drug; to certify all men who do not smoke opium, and to arraign all those who do indulge in the practice.

SHANGHAI, April 7.—William W. Rockhill, the American Minister to China, was entertained at luncheon at Nan-king to-day by the Viceroy, Tuan-fang. The Viceroy expressed his cordial feelings toward the United States, which country he visited two years ago as a traveling commissioner. Later he returned Mr. Rockhill's call on board the United States gunboat Villalobos.

PARIS, April 7.—Henry White, the American Ambassador, left here to-day for London on private business in connection with the sale of his London residence.

LONDON, April 7.—The March statement of the Board of Trade shows decreases of $28,128,000 in imports, and $9,148,000 in exports. The principal decreases in imports were $7,500,000 in wool and $17,500,000 in cotton, including $12,500,000 American. The main falling off in exports was $5,000,000 in manufactured goods. The exports of cotton and wool fabrics also decreased.

URGE PUBLIC WORK FOR 200,000 IDLE

Social Workers' Conference Declares Present Means of Relief Are Inadequate.

THE STATE APPEALED TO

In Requesting Immediate Relief the Governor and Legislature Are Asked to Make an Inquiry.

Prominent social workers took up the problem of the large army of unemployed in the city at a meeting of the Ethical Social League at the Hotel Astor yesterday afternoon and adopted a series of resolutions calling for the pushing of contracts for all public works that opportunity may be given to the idle to earn a living.

The Rev. Dr. George William Knox, Acting President of the Union Theological Seminary, presided. The first to speak was Dr. Frank Julian Warne, a social worker, who said that there was a certain group of social workers in this city who were making an effort to take advantage of the present condition of the unemployed to further their political ends, and he wished it to be understood that the Ethical Social League was formed for the purpose of neutralizing the social forces.

"Those people know that these times are good for the propagation of their doctrine, and they are taking advantage of it for all they are worth," he said, referring to the Socialistic demonstration in Union Square and the bomb explosion.

Dr. Warne thought that the unemployed are going to have a bad time all Summer, and that even next Winter the conditions will not be any better than now.

Robert Hunter, the Socialist, was greeted with applause, but he had promised before speaking that he would not refer to his idea of what caused the industrial crisis. So he told of how the unemployed are treated in Europe, where there are colonies for workmen and the municipalities take care, as far as possible, of those in need of the necessities of life. He said that the large number of unemployed meant more votes for Tammany Hall, because that organization gave the men some assistance.

Marcus M. Marks suggested "Optimism" should be preached at all times. Charles Sprague Smith presented resolutions, which were adopted. The resolutions urge upon public officials that they immediately undertake public works, already authorized, to relieve the unemployed.

The resolutions further state:

That there be established by the Legislature State farms in one or more localities, to which vagrants from our cities can be committed.

That, while urging immediate relief measures, we call upon the Governor and the Legislature of the State to institute such a thorough inquiry into the causes of unemployment as shall lead to remedial legislation of a permanent character.

That we respectfully suggest to corporations and individuals employing others that in order to ameliorate the present situation they extend employment as much as possible, pro-rating work and reducing time rather than discharging employes or closing business.

That the Chairman of this conference appoint a committee of five to act upon the foregoing resolutions, to keep in constant touch with the situation, and to make such announcements and recommendations to the League as shall from time to time be deemed essential.

The number of unemployed in the city is placed at 200,000, including 30,000 who are classed as vagrants.

CHINA AND JAPAN NEGOTIATE.

Manchurian Questions Taken Up—Japanese Fear America.

PEKING, April 7.—Negotiations began here to-day between Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister, and Tang-shao-yi, the Governor of Mukden Province, regarding various matters at issue between the two countries, but notably the controversy regarding the extension to the north of the Hsinmintun-Fakumen Railroad, the question of the Chientao boundary between Korea and China, and finally the matter of the timber concessions on the Yalu River.

Tang-shao-yi is credited with having created an international situation by his stand in the dispute over the Hsinmintun-Fakumen Railroad. One of the things that may be decided during these negotiations is whether or not Japan will tolerate Chinese and foreign as opposed to Japanese capital and enterprise in Manchuria.

TOKIO, April 7.—Negotiations between America and Russia concerning the administration of affairs at Harbin are being closely watched by Japan. The newspapers suggest Japanese administration of South Manchuria as the real object of American action. The sensationalists connect the coming of the American fleet with possible future representations concerning South Manchuria.

NOTHING FOR MRS. OELRICHS.

Hermann Oelrichs Devised More to Relatives Than Estate Amounts To.

W. J. O'Sullivan, who was appointed by the court to appraise the estate of Hermann Oelrichs, after the latter's death on a steamer while returning from Europe on Sept. 1, 1906, filed his report with the Surrogate yesterday. Mr. O'Sullivan finds the gross value of the estate is $431,816, from which is to be deducted, for debts, &c., $51,752.

The bequests are more than the estate amounts to, and include certain articles of a personal nature valued at $1,581 to Hermann Oelrichs, Jr. The sum of $30,000 was left to Mary Singleton Livingston, a half-sister of the testator; Julia M. Mazen received $25,000; five nephews and nieces, $5,000 each; Lucy Jay, a sister, $100,000, and Charles May Oelrichs, a brother, $300,000. His widow, Mrs. Teresa Alice Oelrichs, was not mentioned in the will.

The stocks owned by the testator are valued by Mr. O'Sullivan as follows:

Four per cent. bonds of the South Pacific Coast Railway	$425,000
Cash	307
Cash in National Park and one other bank	633
Insurance on personal property in San Francisco destroyed by fire on which was recovered	3,244
Two shares stock of Newport Reading Room	760
One share Newport Casino stock	250

As the will devises more than the estate is worth, the beneficiaries will have to take less than the amounts mentioned in the will.

PROTEST BY MME. ZOLA.

Says Her Husband's Memory Can Gain Nothing by Pantheon Burial.

PARIS, April 7.—Mme. Emile Zola has published an open letter, in which she expresses regret that she cannot retain possession of the body of her husband. She declares that his labors of forty years, his part in the Dreyfus affair, and the insults of the Reactionaries have done more for his fame than can the Pantheon.

"I am grateful to those who desire to do my husband homage," Mme. Zola writes, "but I do not find the transfer of his body to the Panthéon to be necessary for his glory."

The Evolution of Ready-for-Service
Apparel for Men

The transition from the various stages of merely "ready-made" to the remarkable perfection at last attained in ready-for-service clothes, has not been accomplished without a corresponding enlightenment of the buying public.

Men of discriminating taste are aware of the tremendous strides which recent years have witnessed in the progress of garment-making.

So, too, have they been quick to note the underlying reasons for the change of public sentiment in favor of the convenience, economy and other advantages possessed by ready-for-service apparel.

But great as the general improvement has been, there are those who are not satisfied only with "doing better."

Pronounced success comes only with "best."

We feel justly entitled to the reward that has met our efforts to give to our productions a distinctiveness and character wholly due to the skill and conscientious work of our designers and tailormen.

MILES SCORES EASY VICTORY OVER SANDS

Britisher Defeats Former Champion at Court Tennis in Three Straight Sets.

WHITNEY CAPTURES MATCH

Havemeyer Goes Down to Defeat After Winning from Foxhall P. Keene —Final Round To-morrow.

By their victories yesterday in the second round of the amateur court tennis championship of the United States at the Racquet and Tennis Club, Payne Whitney, New York Racquet and Tennis Club, and Eustace H. Miles of London, England, will play in the final round of the championship tournament for the honor of challenging Jay Gould for the title. Whitney scored an unexpected victory over T. A. Havemeyer, who also represented the New York Racquet and Tennis Club, and defeated Foxhall P. Keene in the first match of the tourney by the score of 5—6, 6—4, 6—0, 6—0. Miles earned the right to play in the finals by winning from Charles F. Sands, the ex-amateur National champion, in three straight sets, 6—2, 6—1, 6—3.

The fact that the Britisher would face a good player and meet an opponent capable of extending him brought out a big society crowd. Miles's performance demonstrated that he has not lost any of his brilliancy and effectiveness. His judgment was excellent and his shots remarkable for their accuracy. He repeatedly found the grille corner and the dedans, and killed the ball in the forehand court. Sands played a good game, but was unable to make any headway against his clever opponent, whose deadly shots for the dedans scored for him many points. In playing for Chases the Britisher was very accurate, and several times succeeded in turning the penalty to account.

The Whitney-Havemeyer match was a remarkable one. Although Whitney was known to be playing a strong game, he was not thought to be strong enough to win from Havemeyer, who easily defeated Keene.

There will be no play to-day. The survivors will rest until to-morrow, when the final round will be played. Friday will be another day of rest, and the winner of to-morrow's match will play Jay Gould for the championship. The score:

Upsets in Chess Tourney.

VIENNA, April 7.—Several upsets marked the twelfth round of the international chess masters' tournament, played at the rooms of the Vienna Chess Club to-day. The American, Marshall, lost his game with Teichmann, while Maroczy, the Hungarian champion, was beaten by Berger. Duras of Prague defeated Alapin and moved up to within half a point of Schlechter, the leader, who drew his game with Cohn. In the other games of this round Rubinstein drew with Suechting, Swiderski beat Salwe, Tartakower defeated Perlis, and Bardeleben drew with Spielmann. The games between Reti and Leonhardt and Johner and Mieses were adjourned in even positions.

SUBMARINE SIGNALS WARN.

Distinctly Heard in Fog on the Cecilie When Horns Were Not.

The Kronprinzessin Cecilie of the North German Lloyd Line, which arrived yesterday, broke a record in the run from noon Monday until noon yesterday. During that time she made 585 miles, an hourly average of 23.48 knots, or two miles better than her best previous westward performance.

The submarine signaling apparatus of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie worked perfectly.

"A heavy fog enveloped us between Dungeness and Terschellinger Bank Lightship, in the North Sea, about 8:35 o'clock at night," said Capt. Hogemann. "At 11:25 we received the sounds from the submarine bell from East Goodwin Lightship, about seven miles distant. As we approached the lightship the sounds were quite distinct. The fog horn on the lightship was not heard at any time.

"When, in our judgment, we were opposite the East Goodwin Lightship we heard the bells of the Sandettie Lightship very faintly and only through the starboard receiver. The sound gradually became more distinct and was without an echo. The distance was between nine and ten nautical miles. The foghorn on this lightship was first heard at 12:59 o'clock, about three miles distant.

"We heard the bell on North Hinder Lightship, about ten nautical miles distant, through the starboard receiver, and also the bells of Haak's Lightship, about fifteen miles distant, but not the foghorns.

"By frequently changing our course it was possible to determine the direction of the lightship to within one point of the compass."

GIORDANI JURY LOCKED UP.

They Must Decide Whether or Not Haitian Is a Counterfeiter.

Judge Chatfield, in the United States Circuit Court, yesterday charged the jury in the case of Joseph Giordani, the Haitian revolutionary agent accused of counterfeiting the "uni" and "deux" gourdes notes of the Republic of Haiti. The trial occupied the attention of the Federal court for a week.

The court said that it was for the jury to decide whether the bills were issued to deceive the Haitian public or whether they were issued, as the defense contended, as money for the Provisional Government.

It is said that the trial of the indictments still pending against Giordani, for the purchase of munitions of war to be used against a friendly power, will be interesting, as international questions are involved.

Judge Chatfield ordered the jury locked up for the night at 6 o'clock, saying that it could render a sealed verdict should it reach a decision.

GIANTS WIN EASILY.

New Yorkers Bat Hard and Little Rock Is Downed Again.

Special to The New York Times.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 7.—The regular team of the New York Nationals made playthings of the Little Rock nine of the Southern League to-day, defeating them by a score of 7 to 3. The small difference in the score does not show the margin of superiority in the play. New York walloped the ball all over the park, making sixteen hits, and Bridwell was the only one who could not connect safely. That the Giants did not win by a more one-sided score was due to the fact that they did not care to humiliate the Southerners to a greater extent than the score shows.

Ames pitched for the Giants and demonstrated his fitness to go the route in a major league game so early in the year. He had speed, curves, and superb control. The score:

Yankees Vanquish Lynchburg.

Special to The New York Times.

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 7.—The Lynchburgs fell easy victims to the curves of "Smiling Al" Orth this afternoon and were beaten by the Yankees by a score of 8 to 1. Lynchburg's run came in the sixth inning. Pitcher Oakley, one of the weakest hitters on the team, got in a lucky two-bagger and scored on Bowen's short hit over second base, which Hemphill allowed to get past him.

Conroy made a batting average of 1.000, leading his team with the stick. Jake Stahl was particularly fast on the bases. Griffith was again at second base and handled himself well.

Harry Hillman Quits Track.

Harry L. Hillman, Jr., the New York Athletic Club middle-distance indoor champion, went to Atlantic City yesterday for a two weeks' rest to recuperate from over training. Hillman competed in the Buffalo games against the advice of his physician. He was not in proper condition and the exertion brought on an attack of acute indigestion. He was compelled to give up training and withdraw from further competition this Spring. His recovery from his complaint left him in a weakened condition, and he expects to build up at Atlantic City.

$3,000 AUTO TROPHY FOR STOCK CAR RACES

Jefferson De Mont Thompson Offers Cup for International Competition.

A. A. A. RACING BOARD MEETS

Plans for New Cup Race to be Taken Up at a Meeting of the Board to be Held in the Near Future.

A cup for international stock car racing was offered yesterday to the American Automobile Association by Jefferson De Mont Thompson, Chairman of the American Automobile Association Racing Board. The trophy, it was stated by President W. H. Hotchkiss at the close of the Executive Committee meeting, held yesterday in the American Automobile Association offices, 437 Fifth Avenue, will be of the value of $3,000. It will be a perpetual cup and is to be competed for annually in this country.

Previous to the meeting of the American Automobile Association Executive Board a meeting was held between the officials and the representatives of the different manufacturing associations. The proposition of the cup and the race was laid before them and met with their hearty approval.

"We hope to hold the first race for the Thompson Cup this year," said President Hotchkiss last night just before starting for his home in Buffalo. "Nothing, however, in this respect has yet been decided, but plans for the contest will be discussed at an early meeting."

Those present at this conference were William H. Hotchkiss, President of the American Automobile Association; Chairman Thompson of the Racing Board, Chairman Hooper of the Good Roads Board, Chairman Hower of the Touring Board, F. H. Elliott, Secretary; L. R. Speare, First Vice President, and O. A. Quayle, President of the New York State Automobile Association. From the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers were S. D. Waldon and Windsor T. White, and from the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association were Alfred Reeves, R. M. Owen, and Harry Fosdick.

Chairman Hower of the Touring Board outlined his plans in connection with the tour and asked for suggestions from the representatives present in regard to the fifth annual reliability touring contest for the year 1908. He received several suggestions which will be incorporated in the rules.

Chairman Thompson of the Racing Board asked for suggestions in connection with the miscellaneous races on circular tracks, and also in connection with the Vanderbilt Cup race. He announced that the cup race would certainly be held and that negotiations for a course in the States of Missouri, Georgia, and Connecticut were already well under way. He called attention to the success of the recent Savannah stock touring car races. The representatives of the manufacturers present suggested that there should be but one contest of the latter kind each year, and that it should be international in its character. This view met with the approval of all of the representatives present, and Mr. Thompson then stated the conditions of his cup award.

The proposed convention of the American Automobile Association to be held at Buffalo coincident with the beginning of the fifth annual tour was also considered, Chairman Hooper of the Good Roads Board being present, and it was the opinion of the various representatives that good roads should be the keynote of such convention, and that, if possible, other organizations interested in the subject be asked to co-operate.

BILLIARD RULES ADOPTED.

Qualifications Defined for Players in Amateurs' International Tournament.

A meeting of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, held at the Liederkranz Club yesterday, framed and approved the conditions that will govern the international amateur championship tournament which is to be held in the rooms of the Liederkranz Club, beginning on April 28. The condition of chief importance to prospective entrants as decided by the meeting is that a necessary qualification for entry shall be a grand average of not less than nine, at eighteen-inch balk line, two shots in, upon a 5 by 10 table. In addition, each entry must be passed on by the Executive Committee as regards the eligibility of the player in general, with the agreement that the existing definition as to amateur status, under the rules of the National Association, shall be in effect.

In making conditions for the play in the tournament, the committee conceded the wish of the Amateur Federation of France, that the size of the balls used shall be larger than is usual in America, the standard fixed being balls 2⅜ inches in diameter, the games to be of 400 points, with the anchor shot barred.

The entries for the tournament are to close with Lincoln Brunn, Secretary of the Liederkranz Club, at 6 P. M., on April 14. The tournament is open to players from all parts of the world, and it was stated that especial attention had been paid to the matter of inducing foreign entries by notices of the tournament which have been sent out to all parts of the world where billiard playing is known to have been established.

The entries that already have been received are those of Lucien Le Rolle of France, and four noted American amateurs, Poggenburg of New York, Gardner of Passaic, N. J., and Demarest and Conklin of Chicago.

HOPPE RETURNS EMBLEM.

Billiard Champion Will Not Play Again In One-Night Matches.

Willie Hoppe, the 18.2 balk-line billiard champion, has returned the championship emblem to the donors with the notification that he declined to defend it under the present deed of gift. Hoppe is opposed to one-night games for the championship, but is willing to accept any challenge for a match extending three nights or more.

When he returned from Europe a few months ago the youthful champion issued a statement that he would play only in matches for the championship of 1,500 or more points. He challenged Schaefer and Sutton for the 18.1 and 18.2 championships, respectively, with the hope of winning both titles and returning the emblem. He lost to Schaefer, but won from Sutton, and last night announced that under no conditions would he again compete in a championship match where the points to decide the title were less than 1,500, or the nights devoted to the contest less than three.

Brooklyn's Billiard Championship.

In the billiard tournament for the amateur championship of Brooklyn, in the Knickerbocker Billiard Academy, M. D. Brown last night made a score of 300, giving him a total of 600 up to date. In the night's play Brown completed his score in thirty-two innings, with an average of 9 12-32, his highest runs being 63, 31, and 30, with double figures nine times. C. E. White added 178 to his score for the night's play in thirty-one innings, with an average of 5 23-31 and a high run of 19. The total for White up to date is 384.

Williams College Football Dates.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., April 7.—The Williams football schedule for next Fall was announced to-day as follows:

Oct. 3, Middlebury, at Williams; 10, Harvard, at Cambridge; 17, Dartmouth, at Williams; 24, Massachusetts Agricultural College, at Williams; 31, Syracuse, at Syracuse; Nov. 7, Vermont, at Williams; 14, Wesleyan, at Williams; 21, Amherst, at Amherst.

The game with Dartmouth is the first game played with this team since the Fall of 1906, as athletic relations were severed early in 1907 on account of slugging in a basket ball game. Coach Newton, formerly head coach of University of Pennsylvania, will not return to Williams next Fall. His loss will make the success of the team difficult.

HARVARD MAY CUT SPORTS.

Probable That Basket Ball, Hockey, and Other Winter Diversions May Go.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 7.—Harvard's football schedule was announced to-night, and it is identical with that of last year, except for the transposition of the dates of two contests. The Athletic Committee passed a vote to the effect that on or before May 1 it would consider and act upon the desirability of abolishing all intercollegiate contests at Harvard from the end of the football season next year until the Spring recess. It has been feared that the football schedule would be cut, in accordance with the recommendation of the Faculty that the number of intercollegiate contests be considerably reduced.

In passing the football schedule unaltered the Athletic Committee has most daringly defied the Faculty, and, seeing that there has got to be a compromise of some sort, has decided that if anything must be sacrificed it shall be basket ball, hockey, and the other sports of the Winter months. Thus it is hoped to appease the Faculty, which otherwise might vote to abolish intercollegiate athletics altogether, a measure which would immensely please President Eliot.

The undergraduates are determined that there shall be no reduction of the number of intercollegiate contests in any line of sports, and the Athletic Committee is loath to accede to the demands of the Faculty. Between the two bodies an exciting game of see-saw is being waged, and the undergraduates are fearful that in the shuffle athletics may be dealt a deathblow. The schedule is as follows:

Sept. 30, Bowdoin at Cambridge; Oct. 3, Maine at Cambridge; Oct. 7, Bates at Cambridge; Oct. 10, Williams at Cambridge; Oct. 17, Springfield Training School at Cambridge; Oct. 24, Annapolis at Annapolis; Oct. 31, Brown at Cambridge; Nov. 7, Carlisle at Cambridge; Nov. 14, Dartmouth at Cambridge; Nov. 21, Yale at New Haven.

ATHLETES TO BE FAVORED.

Champions of New York A. C. Can Waive Initiation Fee.

Of much interest to the athletes who represent, or have in the past worn, the Mercury Foot of the New York Athletic Club in all sports, was the special meeting of the organization held at the Central Park South Clubhouse last night. According to the provisions of an amendment to Article III., Section 10, of the constitution of the club, many of the men who in the past, as well as at the present time, have worn the Mercury Foot and carried it to victory in various championships, as well as many men who, after winning honors, dropped from the athletic roll into comparative obscurity, will be enabled, upon proper application, to take their places upon the resident membership roll, incidentally waiving the initiation fee, although the regular annual dues of a resident member will have to be paid.

Capt. Jeremiah T. Mahoney, who appeared to father the addition to the constitution, although most of the many members present had before the meeting expressed themselves favorably upon it, made a stirring speech before the meeting, bringing up the good points of the bill, and concluding amid applause. The full addition to the constitution concerning the athletes, which was passed unanimously by the members at the meeting, is as follows:

Athletic members who have for three or more consecutive years competed for the club may be admitted as resident or non-resident members upon the payment of one-half the admission fee prescribed for these classes. An athletic member who has represented the club with success for five or more consecutive years, and who has during that time won at least one National championship, or won an Olympic championship, or has been a member of a crew or team winning a National championship, may, upon the approval of the Admissions Committee, the Committee on Athletics, and the Board of Governors, be admitted to resident membership without the payment of an initiation fee.

There were many other matters passed upon by the club at the meeting, which was a special one called by the Board of Governors.

"HACK" SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

Russian Declares That He Got Rough Deal in Match with Gotch.

George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," who recently lost the wrestling championship to Frank Gotch in Chicago, sailed yesterday morning on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse for home. The ex-champion still showed the effects of the roughing he received at the hands of the American wrestler. His face was marked by abrasions, cuts, and bruises. His left ear is very much swollen and cut and he limped slightly as he walked.

Before leaving Hackenschmidt complained of the treatment he received in the championship match last Friday in much the same terms as were used in his cable to The London Daily Mail, which has been printed in THE TIMES.

The wrestler said he was going on the other side to fill some engagements in London, among them being a match with Zbysco, and he did not know whether he would consent to meet Gotch again. Under certain conditions he said he would make an effort to regain his title, but not in Chicago.

Hill Climb for Worcester.

Special to The New York Times.

WORCESTER, April 7.—The bill authorizing the Mayor and Aldermen of cities and the Selectmen of towns to grant permits for automobile hill climbing tests has passed the Legislature and Worcester will have another Dead Horse automobile climb.

As soon as word was received here a special meeting of the Board of Governors of the Worcester Automobile Club was called today, and the board appointed a committee to confer with the Selectmen of Leicester and the Aldermen of Worcester regarding a permit for a hill climb on June 6. The Dead Horse Hill course lies partly in Worcester and partly in Leicester. The bill particularly legalizes speed races on the fine highways of the State of Massachusetts, and at the same time permits those conducting the contests to bar the public off these highways or to charge them for being on the course. The committee appointed consists of John P. Coughlin, Daniel F. Gay, F. E. Frost, John S. Harrington, and George Stowe. A feature announced to-night was that only stock cars would be allowed to enter the contest, for all high-powered special cars or freak cars would be barred.

Tennis, Track, and Field Games.

G. F. Touchard, Hamilton Grange Lawn Tennis Club, and Dr. William Rosenbaum, Harlem Lawn Tennis Club, reached the finals yesterday of the first outdoor tournament of the season. The matches have been in progress for the past week during good weather on the courts of the Hartsdale Outdoor Club of the Bronx. Touchard in his semi-final defeated Frederick P. Fox, New York Lawn Tennis Club, 6—4, 7—5; while Dr. Rosenbaum defeated William H. Connell, New York Lawn Tennis Club, 6—3, 6—2, in an impromptu set.

The tournament began with a field of eighteen competitors. Their matches on the two dirt courts were interesting, although the playing surfaces were far from being in excellent condition. A running track circles the outer edge of the lawn tennis field, and upon this the competitors engaged in an impromptu set of games with the following results:

50-Yard Dash.—Won by Z. Lippe; William H. Connell, second.

Standing Broad Jump.—Won by William H. Connell, scratch, 9 feet 4 inches; G. D. Evans, scratch, 8 feet 10 inches, second.

Standing High Jump.—Won by Z. Lippe, scratch, 4 feet 2 inches; William H. Connell, scratch, 4 feet, second.

12-Pound Shot Put.—Won by R. E. Dougherty scratch, 41 feet 6 inches; J. Wright, (1 foot,) 39 feet 8 inches, second.

Throwing Baseball for Accuracy, 50 feet.—Won by G. D. Evans; Abraham Bassford, Jr., second.

Target Shooting with Pistol, 10 Yards.—Won by R. Dewey; L. Vennerstron.

Changes in Cornell Crew.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, April 7.—Gavett, a veteran of three years' standing, was sent in at bow oar in the Cornell 'Varsity crew to-night, superseding Clarke, a big junior, who has been rowing there ever since the crews went out on the water. He went back to the four-oared combination. Courtney also made other changes, bringing Stevens, whom he discovered two weeks ago and later superseded by Koern, back into the 'Varsity. The rest of the crew rowed as usual. R. F. Colson, a junior, who rowed in the four-oared shell last year, has quit rowing for this year at least.

OWEN MORAN WINS.

English Champion Beats Ad Wolgast at National A. C. in Fast Bout.

Owen Moran, champion featherweight of England, demonstrated his superiority over Ad Wolgast of Milwaukee in a fast six-round bout at the first professional fistic entertainment of the newly organized National A. C. of America, East Twenty-fourth Street, last night. Wolgast came here well recommended and with a long record. While he is far from being in the front ranks, he showed that he is an ambitious youngster who will bear watching in the future. He lacks the skill of Moran and Abe Attell, but he possesses a stiff punch, and had the champion guessing during several stages of the scrap.

Wolgast, confident and smiling, assumed a crouching attitude and covered himself so peculiarly as to make him appear awkward. He rushed head foremost and abruptly came up with either the left or right and landed on the face and jaw. In the second he mixed it viciously, and Moran was bewildered, and in the third round, after the Briton had beat a tatto of heavy left jabs to the face, Wolgast turned Moran completely around with a wicked left swing to the jaw. Moran had his opponent in distress in the fourth round from body blows. The fifth was a lively session, both playing for the body. In the final round Wolgast was very tired and scarcely landed an effective blow. The Englishman brought him to his knees with a jolt to the chin, and Wolgast was groggy at the finish.

Military League Games To-night.

The Seventy-first Regiment Armory, at Park Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, will be the scene of a great athletic carnival to-night on the occasion of the annual handicap events of the Military Athletic League. Every regiment in New York save the Seventh, which is not in the Military League, will have its track and field team out to win the point prize, a handsome solid silver cup. Five hundred entries from the Thirteenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Seventy-first, Ninth, Twelfth, Eighth, and Fourteenth make up the list of cinder-path stars hardly excelled by even the big New York Athletic Club and Irish-American Athletic Association meets in Madison Square Garden.

Yale Man's Long Hammer Throw.

NEW HAVEN, April 7.—Carroll Cooney of New York, Yale's football guard, to-day exceeded the hammer-throw record by hurling the weight 161 feet, although the throw was not made in competition and will not count. Cooney's recent work makes him a likely intercollegiate winner. Capt. "Bobby" Burch of the Yale football eleven to-day wrenched a tendon in his knee while running the quarter mile, and may be out of track athletics for the season.

MORE EXEMPTIONS FOR LABOR.

The Washington telegrams describe the interest in the hearings on the amendments to the anti-trust law as waning. It does not follow that the public interest either is waning or should wane. It is perceived now that a better informed public sentiment at the time of the original enactment would have preserved the country from uncounted ills. The same is true of the amendments at the present time. For example, when Mr. GOMPERS spurns the exemptions offered to labor trusts, and declares that he would rather endure the hardships of the present law than submit to registration, a special wonder arises. What objection can Mr. GOMPERS have to publicity in such matters as campaign funds, and entertainment committees, and strike benefits, and the reasonableness of contracts with employers, that he should so resent passing the examination to which it is proposed to subject both capital and labor? If the protests of capital are to be disregarded, does not the same argument apply to labor trusts?

Prof. JENKS made an argument for the exemption of trades unions which hardly helps the bill. He drew a distinction between incorporated and unincorporated concerns, and explained the exemption of trades unions on the ground that they are organized for the purpose of defending liberties and privileges relating to them in their personal capacity and are not organized for profit. They have a human quality and the corporations organized for profit have not.

This is something like reform run mad. Who ever heard of the slightest restraint being placed upon the many admirable benevolent purposes of trades unions? Who has ever suggested that they were connected in any manner with inter-State commerce, and should be prohibited as restraints of trade? On the other hand, who can doubt that alongside these beneficent activities of labor trusts there runs as mercenary a strain of motives as those which animate any capitalistic trust? Indeed, cannot it be plausibly urged that in this respect the labor trusts are the greater offenders? Who ever heard of capitalist trusts compelling the purchase of their goods by the methods employed by the labor trusts in selling labor? Yet what a shout of protest would arise at any proposal to give special exemptions to capitalist trusts.

On the other hand, it will be admitted that the capitalist trusts have a better claim to exemption in the fact that they have been specially legislated against, while labor trusts already enjoy special exemptions. The law not only permits strikes to raise wages or shorten hours, it even tolerates strikes for the discharge of non-unionists, when no questions of conditions of employment are in dispute between either the strikers or the boycotted workers. The distinction is plain. Any capitalist will go to the limit in praising his product, and pressing its sale, but he would be ashamed to ask that he should be protected in prejudicing the goods of his competitor, nor would public opinion support him in such piracy.

It seems that the time has tardily arrived for treating both capital and labor according to their deserts, with special burdens and exemptions for neither, dealing with the matter in a spirit of hard-headed common sense.

ANTI-GAMBLING VOTE TO-DAY.

The Senators at Albany must make no mistake. A vote against the anti-gambling bills will not be misunderstood. Such a vote, no matter who casts it, no matter what pretext he may make for it, no matter how he may think to deceive himself, is a vote for gambling. That is its inevitable effect, and it is too late for any Senator to plead ignorance of it.

Gov. HUGHES did well, on Monday evening, to state the case as plainly as he did in Brooklyn. There was no claptrap or sentimentality about what he said. He spoke clearly and fully and with a good deal of indignation against the trickery that had been used to defeat the bills. The indignation was amply justified. There is not the shadow of a doubt that opposition to the bills comes solely from the gamblers or those who profit directly or indirectly by the gambling. In the long and earnest discussion that has taken place since the bills were introduced, it is literally true that not a single reasonable or even plausible argument has been brought forward against them. The fight made for the bills has been an entirely open one. It has been made before the people. It has depended absolutely on debate and on the reason and conscience and common sense of the people. The facts in the matter are not obscure or difficult to understand. They are well within public knowledge, and the simplest of the voters can comprehend them. They do. The applause that greeted Gov. HUGHES in Brooklyn on Monday reflects the common sentiment in all parts of the State.

There is no use in predicting the result of the vote to-day at Albany. On the showing of the last test vote there is a clear and safe majority for the bills. It can be broken only by defection. We hope that the bills will be passed. The welfare of the State, the integrity of the Constitution, the sentiment of the great majority of the people, and especially the sentiment of multitudes of innocent sufferers from the ills bred by gambling, all these demand their passage. It will be a bold man indeed who, having supported the bills, can at this moment betray the principle they represent.

THE IRONY OF FATE.

The Barmecide's feast in Denver the other night, at which Mr. BRYAN was the principal speaker, is one of the most cheerful incidents of the political year. It should cause merriment even in the Bryanite ranks. Like Beau Brummell and his valet in the play, the guests "ate the names of things," and Mr. BRYAN, as is his wont, named many things indigestible. The waiters had gone on strike. The irony of fate was never more amazingly illustrated than in a waiters' strike at a Bryan banquet.

The reason for the strike was the same old reason. The waiters objected to the smallness of their pay. So they paraded and cheered in the Denver streets while Mr. BRYAN and other stalwart friends of the laboring man went foodless until three pitiful non-union waiters could be found to pass the dishes.

This was presumably a cheap banquet, in accordance with the Bryan idea of Jeffersonian simplicity. Why need there be waiters at such feasts? To be served at meals by hirelings is surely undemocratic. Diedrich Knickerbocker veraciously reports that at the simple meals of the early settlers of New York they did not even have sugar bowls. A large lump of sugar tied to a string was suspended from the ceiling and deftly swung from mouth to mouth so that each could take a bite to sweeten his tea.

At the Bryan banquets the food should be placed on the table so that the diners could help themselves. Then the flow of conversation would be enlivened with such remarks as "Pass the butter" and "Are the pickles busy?" and a genuine approach to Spartan simplicity secured.

THE AUTOMOBILE PARADE.

The splendid street display of the self-moving vehicles on Broadway last night has not been equaled anywhere else in the world. There have been motor car parades in plenty; every seaside resort has them nowadays every Summer; but here were thousands of cars in line, representing every type of self-moving vehicle produced in the last ten years, a period that practically comprises the development of the automobile industry in the United States.

To the many thousands of onlookers the parade was as interesting as it was to the participants, which is saying a good deal where the motorcar is concerned. Generally the mood of the man on foot is hostile to the motorist. The historical section included the humble "quad," the earliest types of runabouts, the first touring and city cars. In the second section the display was even more significant. The present types of cars, the 1908 models of tourists, limousines, and racers, represent what we are forced to consider an approach to perfection in mechanical fitness. Ten years hence we may know better.

Commercial vehicles and decorated cars, including some ingeniously pictorial floats, were also in line. Looking down on the parade from the windows of THE TIMES's tower, the spectator felt that here indeed was a twentieth century display of man's ingenuity.

The automobile festival, which ends next Saturday night, is called a carnival with some measure of reason. The place of the motor car as an instrument for the pleasure of man is not to be disputed. Last night's parade indicated the enormous vitality of a comparatively new industry, and showed as well the great interest felt in its development in this community.

YALE'S "NEW YORK HABIT."

Harvard once tried exempting her students from petty regulations, with full freedom of residence and attendance or non-attendance at college lectures. One result of this tentative arrangement is thus described in The Atlantic Monthly for April by Mr. JOHN CORBIN:

> At the season when Winter had become darkest and most oppressive, one party of undergraduates woke up in the Grand Central Station in New York, still clad in their evening clothes. After due consideration, they decided that their purpose the night before must have been to spend the month of February under the clement skies of Bermuda, and stopping only to buy the necessary flannels on Broadway, they embarked forthwith.

The Yale boys are disporting themselves, it seems, in a similar fashion. Yale trusts her young men to choose their own courses of study, and with a zeal and insight born of their appreciation of this academic privilege they usually select those courses for which the lectures fall on some other day than Saturday. They sally forth in week-end delegations upon outbound trains headed for this city, where, to use JOHN BUNYAN's phrase, they proceed to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season. Theatre parties, bites and sups in modern palatial hostelries, and other Philistine diversions and adventures beguile their minds and consume their substance, while chaplains frown upon empty pews, professors waste wise words on the vacant air, and the Registrar meditates vengeance against the luckless wight who shall overstep his chapel "cuts."

We suggest that the committee which will soon report on the situation advise the Faculty to yield, as gracefully as it may, to the judgment of the undergraduates. For if they are transcending their heights, then what is the elective system good for?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Who Will Dance When All May?

That the New York Methodist Conference has voted almost unanimously in favor of repealing the famous "amusement clause" in Paragraph 248 of the Book of Discipline is highly indicative of a change in Methodist sentiment in and near New York City, but it tells little or nothing as to what the General Conference will do on the subject, and the prospects are that it will do nothing except deny the request.

Of course, everybody knows that the change of sentiment with respect to amusements is by no means confined to the Methodists in the metropolitan district. Hardly anywhere, nowadays, does either dancing or card playing seem to anybody intrinsically vicious, and the old horror of the theatre and the circus is much mitigated, even in the backwoods. It is one thing, however, to view with a kindlier or more tolerant eye things that were once objects of a fierce animosity, and quite another formally to pronounce them harmless or desirable, which is what the repeal of the paragraph would practically do. The New Yorkers are ready to take that step, as many of them have been for some years past, but elsewhere too much of the old feeling still survives for immediate action of that sort. That it will come in time cannot be questioned.

Curiously enough, the chances are that, with respect to dancing, at least, when the Methodist youth at last get permission to indulge in it as much as they choose they will have lost much or all of the old inclination. For, according to credible reports, the popularity of dancing as a polite form of amusement and exercise is slowly waning among sophisticated people. Devotion to it is not yet appreciably unimpaired in the distinctly lower walks of life, but it seems to be considered too simple and old fashioned in the others.

Whether there is any connection between the diminished reprobation and the increased disinclination is a question not to be answered conclusively, but a connection can at least be suspected. More potent, however, is doubtless the growing love of outdoor sports. Perhaps if "dancing on the green" could be revived something of the old favor would return. The old novels had much to say about such dancing, but apparently it was always the amusement of peasants, and the peasant, who is fast disappearing from Europe, we never had.

Statements Without Foundation.

Supt. FREER of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals proved himself neither well-informed nor wisely cautious when he attempted to inspire the members of the Woman's Municipal League with doubt as to the existence of rabies among dogs.

The reality of the disease has, indeed, occasionally been questioned, but never by anybody of authority, and it is not only admitted, but asserted by everybody who speaks from knowledge. That it is a rare disease is true, and many a dog is shot as mad when he hasn't shown even one symptom of rabies, and many persons are scared into a pseudo-hydrophobia by dog bites which should have excited no more apprehension than any other lesion of the same extent. But that rabies exists is a demonstrable and demonstrated fact, beyond all intelligent denial.

And Mr. FREER was even worse employed when he said that "only vivisectionists declare that rabies is very common in animals." Nobody that we ever heard of says that, and vivisectors as a class hold the same opinion as to the prevalence of the malady as do other scientific and enlightened people. Mr. FREER's insinuation against the honesty of the Health Board was unwarranted, in the worst of taste, and generally outrageous. His whole talk was characterized by the recklessness of statement and the eagerness to ascribe low and base motives to opponents for which all anti-vivisectionists are notable, and, so far as his address had any effect at all, the effect was wholly harmful and misleading.

Baby Wagons on the Drive.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some action should be taken against the baby carriage nuisance on Riverside Drive. The sidewalk on the river side of the avenue is altogether too narrow to accommodate the people under ordinary conditions, but when hundreds of baby carriages are being pushed up and down this narrow sidewalk, many of the carriages being two abreast, it causes great inconvenience to the general public who try to get some pleasure in strolling along this most beautiful driveway in the world.

The bridle path is right next to the sidewalk, and is not used enough to warrant its existence. It would be a good plan to merge it into the sidewalk and then fence off one-third of this enlarged sidewalk next to the roadway to be reserved exclusively for baby carriages. If this were done a great public nuisance would be eliminated. C. H. R.

Who Will Watch the Watchers?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. Joseph Avery is right when he asserts in your issue of the 4th inst. that there are more grafters in the police service than any person has any knowledge of. But what good does he expect Mr. Bingham to accomplish by his demand for another $100,000 for a secret police service? To watch the police? But who will watch the secret service men if they watch the police? What will prevent them from joining hands with the regular sleuths?

Brooklyn, April 6, 1908. M. MACON.

Dead Civilizations.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Apropos of the brutality of New York and Chicago policemen during the late demonstrations of the hungry and out of work, have you forgotten the famous saying of Macrobius relative to the ancient uprisings in Greece and Rome in behalf of the oppressed: "The more slaves—the more enemies"? Dead civilizations send you back that warning. S. A.

HALE ATTACKS TAFT.

Refers Sarcastically to His "Prolonged Absences"—Censured by Burkett.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—A bitter attack on Secretary Taft made by Senator Hale to-day brought about a heated discussion in the course of which the younger Republicans openly confronted the Senate organization. The clash resulted in a signal defeat for Hale. It left him in an untenable position, from which he could neither advance nor retreat. The battle raged over the Army Appropriation bill, which was passed yesterday.

Senator Hale called attention to the publication of an article in the morning newspapers which declared that it was the intention of the War Department eventually to raise the army to a strength of 125,000 men.

This increase in the army, the Maine Senator charged, was due to the Chief of Staff. This official, he alleged, often was Acting Secretary of War, and had authority to put into effect his militant ideas. He was Acting Secretary, said Hale with sarcasm, because of the "prolonged, frequent, and necessary absences of the Secretary."

Senator Hale moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed.

Senator Warren defended his bill, and declared it was not extravagant. Senator Beveridge interrupted to ask whether the army, reinforced by the militia, would be capable of coping with even one army corps of any of the great armies of the world.

"No," said Warren promptly.

Mr. Hale broke in with some heat and denounced as "sheer nonsense" the statements that this country could be invaded by a foreign power. Then he asked leave to withdraw his motion to reconsider the vote on the bill.

This was the cue the insurgent Republican Senators had been waiting for. Senator Burkett objected to the withdrawal. He charged Senator Hale with bad faith and worse grace in bringing up the subject for the sole purpose of making a personal attack on a Government official who was before the people as a candidate for Presidential honors.

Senator Frye brought the affair to an end by asking that Mr. Hale's motion be laid on the table, which was done.

ADMIRAL EVANS BETTER.

The Battleships All Make Improved Scores at Target Practice.

PASO ROBLES, HOT SPRINGS, Cal., April 7.—"Rear Admiral Evans had a splendid night and is feeling better than at any time since his arrival here," today said Dr. P. E. McDonald, who accompanied the Admiral to the springs here.

Lieut. Evans declared that his father was unusually bright and cheerful.

While Admiral Evans has had no acute attacks since his arrival here, it is now practically certain that he will not rejoin the fleet at San Diego or participate in any of the celebrations and various functions in Southern California.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 7.—The naval collier Ajax arrived off this port yesterday bringing mail and passengers from the Atlantic fleet at Magdalena Bay. Among the passengers were Lieut. Commander Bradshaw and Lieut. White, who were sent from Washington to witness the target practice of the sixteen battleships. Lieut. White said that while he was not at liberty to give out any of the scores made, it could be stated that some records were broken.

"The most significant and prominent feature of the work," he declared, "is the fact that there is not a single ship in the fleet which has not beaten her former records by a good margin."

LONDON, April 7.—The formal reply of President Roosevelt to the invitation of Great Britain offering the facilities of British ports to the American battleship fleet on its voyage around the world and asking the fleet to visit an English port has been received at the Foreign Office here. The President points out that the details for the last leg of the voyage home have not yet been arranged, but he thanks the British Government for its kind invitation.

Cruiser Chicago Ends Long Voyage.

NORFOLK, Va., April 7.—The United States cruiser Chicago, bearing a homeward-bound pennant flying from her maintop and trailing in the waves astern, passed the Virginia Capes to-day, thus completing her long journey from the Pacific Coast. She proceeded into Hampton Roads.

Why Adopt the Raven?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Why should the Democratic Party adopt the raven as an emblem? Why should it make the donkey its personification? There is no need for it. We might as well add Bryan in cap and bells to complete the picture. Nay, verily, there is no divine right for a defeated candidate to succeed himself and lead the party to further defeat.

But nature abhors a vacuum, and if the party does not begin to crystallize on some suitable man, even Bryan, with his wind, will fill the vacuum. That is why we should turn our eyes to the young Caesar of the Northwest, on whose banners has already been inscribed victory, and who will be able to add National to State victory, his Excellency Gov. Johnson, Democratic Governor of Republican Minnesota. P. B. P.

Staten Island, N. Y., April 7, 1908.

Gray Can Carry the East.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Why can't we get New York to vote for Gray on the first ballot? Gray will carry New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and Connecticut. I don't think any Western man can. JOHN V. CRAVEN.

New York, April 6, 1908.

"A Inseck."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If you will turn to the file of Punch of some years agone you will find the question of the identity of the turtle settled by the station agent.

If memory serves me, that potentate said: "Pigs is dogs and cats is dogs, but a turkle is a inseck." HERBERT EDWARDS.

New York, April 6, 1908.

COMRADES.

Somethin' about an old sweetheart—some dream about an old flame,
Feller named O'Reilly wrote it—don't just remember th' name;
Heard it last night at th' lecture—girl that knew how to recite
Had it committed to memory—knew how to bring it out right.
Some perfect stranger set near me, back pretty well to'rds th' door,
Feller just dropped in I reckon—I never saw him before;
Feller 'bout fifty or sixty, purty well dressed I could see,
Dropped in to pass a dull evenin', an' took a seat right nex' t' me.

Somethin' about an old sweetheart—I don't remember it all,
But it was still when she spoke it—wasn't a sound in th' hall;
I don't go much on recitin', but when she spoke it, you see,
I couldn't help listenin' to it, she seemed to talk right at me;
Somethin' about an old sweetheart; say, but she knew how to speak,
Somethin' in her or O'Reilly made me all wet on my cheek;
And when I looked at th' stranger, hopin' that he didn't see,
His cheek was wet and a tear rolled down on th' side nex' to me.

Somethin' about an old sweetheart—I don't remember th' words,
But it brought memories to me, Springtime an' flowers an' birds;
Brought back th' Spring an' th' Junetime—thoughts that were misty and dim,
An' I looked over an' wondered what it was bringin' to him.
I saw him take out his hankchef, lookin' about sort o' sly,
An' when he thought I wa'n't lookin' rub somethin' outen his eye;
He didn't seem like a stranger—you know how sympathy is—
Somethin' about an old sweetheart—mebbe some kindred o' his!

ANTI-GAMBLING VOTE IN SENATE TO-DAY

Racing Interests Make Final Effort to Break Ranks of Governor's Supporters.

BOTH SIDES WORK FOR VOTES

Struggle Now for the Votes of Grattan, Knapp, and Wilcox, Which Will Decide.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—The fight over the Agnew-Hart bills embodying the Governer's recommendations for the abolition of race-track gambling will be renewed in the Senate to-morrow when those measures come up for final action. To-night the victory is being claimed by both sides.

Representatives of the racing interests at the Capitol are making gigantic efforts to defeat the bills. In and out of the Senate Chamber every member believed to be still open to conviction has been subject all day to every threat, promise, or argument the resourceful apostles of continued gambling at the race courses have been able to frame. Their efforts have been supplemented by pressure from political leaders favorable to the racing interests.

Three Senators in particular seem to have been singled out for these last efforts to defeat the race-track reforms. They are Senators Grattan of Albany, Knapp of Clinton, and Wilcox of Cayuga. The latter made his first appearance in the Senate this week after an extended leave of absence. He was not present to vote last Wednesday when the bills were up in the Senate for advancement to the order of third reading. Senators Grattan and Knapp, on that occasion, voted for the proposition to make the proposed reforms take effect on Sept. 1 instead of at once, but, after this had been done, voted for the advancement. Senator Grattan announced that he would vote for the bills when they came up for final passage. Senator Knapp made no such pledge.

Senator Grattan is a member of the Albany County organization controlled by William Barnes, Jr., who is bitterly opposed to Gov. Hughes personally, to his reforms generally, and the race-track reforms in particular. Mr. Barnes has an editorial to-night in the local newspaper he controls, in which he fiercely denounces the proposed reforms.

Up to a late hour to-night Senator Grattan was still declaring that he would vote for the bills.

Senator Knapp has found himself in a position equally difficult. He said to-day that he had been urged by many of his constituents to vote against the race-track reforms, but was noncommittal as to what he would do.

Senator Wilcox said to-night:

"I do not believe that there is any greater wrong in betting at a race track than on an election. It may be unwise from a political standpoint to urge the passage of such bills as these, but I am first of all a good Republican, and the Governor, I am told, is a Republican, too."

Should Grattan, Knapp, and Wilcox join hands with the opposition, there would only be twenty-six votes, a bare majority, for the bills, provided no Senator should be taken suddenly ill and fail to appear in his seat and none of those who voted against the Sept. 1 proposition should desert.

Senator Raines, majority leader of the upper house, who said he would assume full responsibility last Thursday when the bills were under discussion for putting off the final vote until to-morrow, said this evening that he thought the bills would pass.

Senators Grady and McCarren will lead the fight against the proposed reforms on the floor of the Senate. It was reported to-night that an effort would be made to put back the Sept. 1 amendment in the belief that the plea that reasonable time should be given the racing interests to adjust themselves to the new conditions might appeal to a majority in the Senate. If passed with the amendment the bills would have to be sent back to the Assembly for concurrence, which would mean further delay. In anticipation of this, and in hope that the Assembly might be induced to reverse itself, an extensive propaganda has been carried on by agents of the racing interests among members of the lower house.

BILLS THAT WILL GO OVER.

Many Reforms Urged by Governor Likely Not to be Considered.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—The inference drawn here from the action of the Senate Finance Committee to-day, in reporting favorably a concurrent resolution providing for final adjournment on April 23, is that leaders of the Governor's own party in the Legislature are determined that all of his reform measures not already passed shall be defeated. Speaker Wadsworth of the Assembly said that branch of the Legislature would cheerfully concur in the Senate action.

THE TIMES's correspondent to-day had talks with many of the Republican leaders in both houses. They were not willing to be quoted, but their attitude toward the proposed reforms can be summed up thus: Among the Republicans in the Assembly there is outright hostility to the Governor and his reforms. In the Senate there is total indifference.

Here is a list of the reforms urged by the Governor which are likely to be endangered by the programme of the leaders: Amendment to the Public Utilities law, placing telegraph and telephone companies under the control of the commission; Direct Primary Nominations bill; Massachusetts Ballot bill; plan to accelerate the construction of subways in New York City by exempting such improvements from the debt limit; amendments to the labor law; plan to fight tuberculosis in cattle; enactment of a Pure Food law; National Guards reforms; abolition of the Quarantine Commission; decreasing the number of Port Wardens from nine to five.

That the Governor will urge the enactment of all or a majority of his reforms through special messages, as he did last year, is a possibility which the Republican leaders are looking forward to with apprehension.

BANKING BILLS IN SENATE.

Two Reform Measures Pass, Two Laws Affecting Reserves Are Amended.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—The Senate to-day passed two of the banking reform bills and amended two others providing for an increase of the reserves of State banks and trust companies. About half the measures, urged by Clark Williams, State Superintendent of Banks, and the Special Banking Commission, have been passed by both houses. Several are yet to be passed in the Assembly before they are placed on the Senate calendar.

The reserve bills by a vote of 22 to 20 were amended so as to take from the basis upon which the reserves are to be computed all State deposits which are secured by State bonds.

The reserve as established in the bills, arranged in the order of final passage, are:

State Banks and Individual Bankers—In Manhattan, 25 per cent., two-fifths of which must be in cash; in Brooklyn, 20 per cent., one-half of which must be in cash; elsewhere, 15 per cent., three-fifths of which must be in cash. The remainder may be on deposit in other institutions.

Trust Companies—In Manhattan, 15 per cent. of the aggregate deposits, exclusive of money held in trust and time deposits, the whole of which reserve must be in cash; in Brooklyn, 15 per cent., two-thirds of which must be in cash; elsewhere, 10 per cent., half of which must be in cash.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS ANGRY.

Republicans Broke Quorum to Prevent Reporting Publicity Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—John Sharp Williams worked a new trick on the Republicans of the House to-day in his efforts to force them to consider legislation demanded by the President. He advised some of his followers to commit what is tantamount to a formal violation of the House rules to emphasize the fact that some of the Republicans had with deliberate purpose broken a quorum in the Committee on Election of President and Vice President. Their object was to prevent a vote on a motion by Judge Rucker, a Democrat, to report favorably the McCall bill, providing for publicity of campaign contributions. There were five Democrats and only three Republicans present when the committee met this morning. Mr. McCall and Bourke Cockran were on hand to discuss the bill. Perry Belmont, President of the National Publicity League, and other members of his organization declined to attend, on the ground that they had already appeared at such hearings, and there had been plenty of discussion.

When Judge Rucker, the ranking Democrat on the committee, saw that the Democrats had the Republicans in a minority, he moved that the bill be reported, and demanded a vote on his motion. Representative Gaines of West Virginia, Chairman of the committee, is a stanch supporter of Speaker Cannon, and heartily against publicity bills, especially with a Congressional and Presidential campaign coming on.

He saw that something had to be done instantly, or the bill would be reported, so he whispered to Representatives Burke of Pennsylvania and Diekema of Michigan, the other two Republicans. They immediately fled from the committee room. That left the committee without a quorum, and the Rucker motion could not be put.

The Democrats were angry at the trick. In all their filibustering to force legislation through the House they have never resorted to quorum breaking. The matter could not, under the rules, be taken up in the House, so the Democrats issued a public statement reciting the facts and adding:

"The five Democratic members of the committee were in favor of reporting the McCall bill, and it would have been favorably reported but for the filibustering tactics of the Republicans in breaking the quorum."

Chairman Gaines of the majority issued a statement in reply, which is in part as follows:

"The McCall bill was introduced on the 31st day of March. It will be seen, therefore, that the anxiety for its passage has been postponed, so far as all the gentlemen who signed the statement are concerned, until a late day in the session—and until the Democratic filibuster.

"The truth is that substantially the McCall bill was before the committee during the last Congress and was the subject of a great number of hearings and of thorough consideration. Messrs. Rucker, Hardwick, and Gillespie were also members of the committee at that time. The defects of the present McCall bill were sufficient at that time to induce them to condemn a similar bill."

PREDICTS FREE PRINT PAPER.

Herman Ridder Has Sixty-eight Republicans Pledged to Its Support.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Wood pulp and print paper will be on the free list before the end of the present session of Congress, according to a statement made by Herman Ridder to-day. Sixty-eight Republican Representatives, he said, have pledged themselves to him personally to vote for the measure, and these, combined with the solid Democratic minority, will carry the measure overwhelmingly.

"I have the written pledges of sixty-eight Republicans," he declared. "Payne and Dalzell alone stand in the way, and if they continue as now the House will adopt a resolution directing the Ways and Means Committee to report the bill to the House, when it will be passed.

"I have seen Senator Aldrich, and have assurance that, once through the House, there will be no trouble in his Senate Committee.

"The tariff makes the price of paper $2.50 per 100, when it would be $2.05 but for the tariff. I have proved that. It is $2.05 in Canada when it is $2.50 here, and the difference is exactly the protection plus the freight. If my computation is wrong, if the tariff doesn't keep up the price, then why are they afraid to take off the tariff?

SENATOR LOSES $10,000 SUIT.

Court Decides That Owen Must Pay Fee of Washington Lawyers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—If a decision handed down to-day by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia is sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States, Senator Owen of Oklahoma must pay the law firm of Dudley & Michener of Washington $10,000 and interest, claimed by them as part of the big Indian fee of $750,000 won by Senator Owen several years ago for the adjudication of the claim of the eastern, or emigrant, Cherokees against the United States.

FORTIFICATIONS BILL PASSED.

Senate Replaces $3,000,000 Cut Out by the House.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—With a few amendments offered in open session the Fortifications Appropriation bill, carrying nearly $12,000,000, slipped through the Senate to-day. As the bill passed the House it carried approximately $8,000,000, but the Senate Committee restored $3,000,000 that had been eliminated, this amount going to Hawaii and the Philippines principally.

The Senate adjourned until Thursday, and on that day will take another adjournment until Monday of next week. There are not now on the calendar any pressing measures likely to be enacted this session.

In the past year there has been an increase of 100 per cent. in the number of applications, including many from foreign countries. The problem has enlisted the efforts of the foremost inventors of the country.

LEAVE JACKSON TO HUGHES.

Little Prospect of Legislative Investigation Unless Governor Urges It.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—There is little prospect of a legislative investigation into the official conduct of Attorney General Jackson unless Gov. Hughes takes a hand in the situation.

In the Senate the Saxe resolution calling for such an investigation is dead.

"The initiative will not be taken in this branch of the Legislature," said Senator Raines to-day. "It is up to the Assembly or to Gov. Hughes."

The Governor is noncommittal.

BOARD ALONE CAN SAFEGUARD SCHOOLS

Neither Firemen, Police, Nor Building Bureau Can Interfere, Says City Counsel.

TO MAKE ALL FIREPROOF

Wooden Stairways to Go, More Exits, and Other Precautions to be Passed On To-day.

An opinion from Corporation Counsel Pendleton will be placed before the Board of Education this afternoon, setting forth that the Fire Department and the Bureau of Buildings have no power to issue orders for fire escapes or any alterations whatsoever in the public school buildings of New York for the purpose of safeguarding the pupils, but that this, as well as all other school matters, rests solely in the hands of the board itself.

The board therefore will begin at once on such changes and additions in the equipments of the schools as the Building Committee may deem necessary, without the fear of interference or suggestion from either the Fire Department or the City Bureau of Buildings which has existed in the past.

In his opinion, which is in the form of a letter to Edward S. Murphy, Superintendent of Buildings for Manhattan, Corporation Counsel Pendleton says:

"I think there can be no doubt that the Board of Education is charged with the duty of construction or putting school houses in such condition as to doors, fire escapes, and other means of exit that there will be the least possible danger to the children from fire. The Board of Education constructs schoolhouses, and has an agency charged with the construction, repairing, and general supervision of schoolhouses.

"I do not think that you, as Superintendent of Buildings, are charged with the duty of taking action in court, or in fact any action, in regard to schools which you may think to be unsafe. I think, however, in view of your expert knowledge and experience in such matters, it would be a proper and commendable thing for you to do to write to the Board of Education calling attention to such school buildings as you deem to be unsafe in the respects mentioned. It could certainly do no harm and might shield you from criticism.

"It would follow from what I have already written that you should not ask the co-operation of the Police Department in the vacating of public schools against which fire-escape orders are pending. It is for the Board of Education to close the schools if the buildings are dangerous, and I presume no aid will be needed from the police to vacate the buildings."

This letter has been turned over to Supt. C. B. J. Snyder of the Department of School Buildings, who has already reported to the Building Committee that certain measures in his judgment should be taken as speedily as possible "to safeguard our school buildings and their occupants in case of fire." These will be brought before the Board of Education this afternoon, and as they have been approved by the Building Committee, and as the Board of Estimate has already appropriated $1,000,000 for such work, the board is expected to adopt them promptly.

To Make All Schools Safe.

These precautions for each building will be recommended by Supt. Snyder:

A sufficient number of fireproof stairways and exits to permit of its occupants vacating same in not more than three minutes in non-fireproof and not exceeding three and a half minutes in fireproof structures.

All wood stairs to be replaced with those of fireproof material, exception being made in the case of small frame schools in outlying sections where ample means of exit are otherwise provided.

All terminals of fire escapes to be to the street where possible, otherwise if to a court or yard then there must be proper egress to the street without crowding any exit used for other stairways.

All stairways not less than three feet wide or none more than six feet without an intermediate handrail.

The ceilings of all cellars and basements and all wood ceilings of non-fireproof buildings to be fireproofed either with metal, or plaster board, metal lath and plaster, or some similar effective material.

No wood inclosure about boilers, machinery, pumps, &c.

All classroom doors to open into the rooms. All stair doors above the first floor or basement where exit is had shall open into the stairway following the line of the flow of pupils and out at the first floor or basement toward the exits. All exit doors to open out. All gates to open clear and provided with locks so that they can be kept locked, open and back, during school hours.

All ladders to roofs, no matter whether to attic and thence to scuttle at bulkhead or direct, shall be of iron.

Discontinue all connections between the main floors and boiler, engine, or storerooms in cellars, access thereto to be from the outside of the buildings.

All wood chutes or shafts to be made fireproof.

All clothing hung in the open hall or on a stairway to be removed, hooks taken down, and provision made elsewhere.

CIRCUS DAY FOR ORPHANS.

Some Special Features Arranged for Them Next Tuesday Afternoon.

The managers of the Barnum & Bailey Circus have decided to give the annual performance to the orphans in the institutions of this city next Tuesday afternoon. The little ones who have been wondering if they were to see the circus this year will not only see the circus, but a whole lot of special features designed for them as well.

One of the band of clowns brought the matter to a head by asking one of the managers when the children were coming, as they would like to start rehearsing some of their stunts for them. A meeting of the managers followed, and it was then that next Tuesday was decided upon.

It is hoped by the managers that they will be able to take care of all of the orphans in the institutions, and the request comes from them that the people in charge of the institutions immediately send in their applications for seats, so that provision may be made for the children. The clowns intend doing a lot of things to amuse the visitors, and one of the managers of the circus has had built a huge comic contrivance to be worked by the clowns that is sure to give the little folk a lot of fun.

THOUSANDS RUSH FOR JOBS.

Luna Park Inundated by Applicants for 250 Places as Painters.

It took nearly five hours yesterday morning for Fred McClellan, manager of Thompson & Dundy's Luna Park, at Coney Island, to engage 250 painters to assist the corps already at work regilding and repainting the many towers, minarets, pinnacles, and skylines that go to make up the park. The delay was occasioned by no lack of applicants.

At 6 o'clock 800 men had gathered in front of the gates of Luna. By 7:30 the number had doubled. An hour later the crowd threatened to burst in the gates. The regular painters could not get through the throng, and consequently no work was being done.

Then a call was sent in for the police. The reserves came from the Coney Island Station and had to use their clubs freely before the crowd would thin out.

It was after 10:30 o'clock before Manager McClellan had selected his 250 men and had got his whole staff at work.

"Handcuff King" Is to Show a Theatre Audience How to Get Out of Them.

Houdini, "the hand-cuff king," will try a new kind of "stunt" on Friday night at Keith & Proctor's 125th Street Theatre, where this special evening has been set apart as "automobile night" in honor of the carnival. Houdini has accepted a challenge issued by the Weed Chain Tire Grip Company.

The challengers are to enmesh his body, arms, legs, and head in a series of their steel chains such as are used to prevent heavy cars from slipping on wet roads. In addition they are to put two steel-rimmed automobile wheels about him. Then they will lock him in with padlocks. He says he can extricate himself. Automobile men have their doubts.

CITY FARM SCHOOL OPENS WITH A RUSH

Small Farmers on the Fence an Hour Ahead of Time Waiting to Enter Eden.

BUCOLIC LORE DISPENSED

Radishes Grows Best and "Salery" is Purty Good—But 'Ware String Beans—All Farmers Must Be Nine.

It had been announced that work on the Children's Farm School, in De Witt Clinton Park, Eleventh Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street, would begin at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The early birds who had been fortunate enough to have their "names tooken" were to be allowed the bliss of spading up the ground, while the others might qualify for that privilege in the future by giving their names, ages, and residences to "teacher." It having been made known that the ceremony would begin at 3 o'clock, by 2 the pergola overlooking the miniature farms was crowded with children, sitting on the railing swinging their feet over the forbidden ground and begging to come in.

"Say, Teacher Miss Lehr, I had me name tooken yesterday; lemme in, won't you?"

"Teacher Miss Lehr" smiled sweetly, but reprovingly. "What are you boys doing out of school at this hour?" she asked. "It isn't nearly 3 o'clock yet!"

George Scales, age 10, who was No. 1 on the list taken yesterday, retorted breezily: "They let us out of 52 at 2 o'clock to-day. I don' know why, but they let us out sure."

Pete, however, haling from "De Fifty-thoid," answered yet more brazenly: "Naw, we 'aint out. I just left. Say, they had de steam on dis mornin', an' it was fierce. I quit dis noon."

Apparently most of the boys of "Fifty-two" and "Fifty-three" had followed Pete's example, but not a girl was yet in sight. "Dey don't dare go on de book," confided Pete. "Most half of 'em don't know nutt'n about dis neither." And Pete waved a dirty arm, partly covered by a gray shirt patched with blue, in the direction of the little garden plots. "Girls is always puttin' in too many seeds."

Having announced his scorn of the horticultural prowess of the other sex, Pete turned his attention to his fellowmen. "Hey, you! What youse grinnin' at me fer? Don't I know all about it? Ain't I had a garden here t'ree years runnin'? You gotter spade it up first. You cut de ground up in big lumps or else things won't grow. How do I know? Teacher told me."

As an authority on matters agricultural Pete proceeded: "Radishes grows best. You takes 'em home and eats them without no cooking nor nutt'n. String beans is awful hard. You got to water wit' t'ree pailsfull. Salery (meaning celery) is purty good, but there ain't no use in growin' corn. It's no good." Celery is pronounced "salary" quite universally in De Witt Clinton Park.

A small boy clad in the remains of a red flannel shirt interrupted Pete's discourse by clambering over the edge of the railing. Pete's bony arm seized on the fragmentary collar of the offender. "Don't youse get gay dere, divin' in. Don't you know if youse scrooges in dey drives you out wit' a broom? Say, der goes Paddy. Let's try him."

Paddy is the stout but active guardian of the pergola. He approached the door followed by a raft of the children.

"Aw, say, ain't youse goin' to let us in? It's most t'ree o'clock. Say, we knows how to spade."

But Paddy turned a deaf ear to all entreaties. Up from the rear spoke Will Slattery, who is a subtle youth.

"Say, Paddy, don't you want some feller to help youse carry out de shovels?"

Paddy paused and thought, and the more he thought the more desirable the proffered assistance seemed. Paddy nodded silently, and in past the forbidding door walked Will Slattery of the subtle tongue and his friend, O'Brien. It was only twenty minutes to 3 o'clock.

"Aw, dat's a skin. Joy're gettin' all de fun," wailed the mob without, as through the glass door they watched Slattery and O'Brien struggling under the weight of the many spades, rakes, and hoes.

A small boy in the rear made a diversion by waving a brilliant red tobacco bag. "I've got this to keep my ticket in. I keep it tied round me neck."

Each child receives a tag, which is his card of admission to the Garden of Paradise. If he loses the precious ticket Adam is turned out of Eden. The tobacco pouch met approval from all save one who advised: "Git yer mother to sew it onto yer shirt. Then you'll always have it wid youse, an' you can't lose it."

No signal was needed to tell when 3 o'clock arrived. Through all the entrances of the park poured the girls who "didn't dare go on the hook," running with their school books still in their arms pell mell toward the farm. Bringing up the rear and panting from their exertions came the larger girls carrying their baby brothers and sisters. Two lines were formed in the tool house, which Paddy by force of arms managed to keep in fair semblance of order. "Teacher," at the desk, took the names. No child under 9 is admitted, certainly some mighty small specimens claimed the necessary nine years.

"William Rose, are you 9?" asked the teacher, gazing searchingly at a youngster whose head hardly reached the table top.

"Yes'm. Nine in October."

Teacher looked doubtful, but William Rose was admitted. Behind him followed John Rose, also "nine," but who stood six inches taller than his brother.

"Why, how's this?" called the amazed teacher. "William, come back. How can you both be 9?"

"We're twins, please," answered Johnny, who was six inches taller than his mate. Johnny realized that he had made a faux pas, and was doing his best to cover the retreat.

Behind the twins stood a little shaver, who when asked his age responded, "Seven." Paddy ushered him outside, where he warned his friends:

"Say, I told 'em de trut', an' dey chucked me out," announced George Washington, Jr., regretfully.

Finally they were all lined up, boys and girls. Slattery and O'Brien brought out the precious spades, the children marched to the plots, and the dirt began to fly. Possibly there was more zeal than wisdom in the enthusiastic digging, but the work of the seventh season of the De Witt Clinton School Farm was started, while Slattery and O'Brien stalked proudly up and down, admonishing.

"Say, quit foolin'! Get to work. This is business, this is. Do youse think you're in school?"

HAMMERSTEIN IN PARIS.

Busy Making New Arrangements—Will Go to German Capitals.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 7.—Oscar Hammerstein, although he arrived in Paris after midnight last night, was busy with engagements that kept him on the jump from 7 in the morning till late at night. He told THE NEW YORK TIMES's correspondent that he already had a dozen business affairs well under way, but none of them was ripe enough for public announcement.

He probably will leave in a day or so for Germany and Austria on business engagements there, returning to Paris afterward.

Mr. Hammerstein organized the ship concert on the way over from New York, in which all the operatic stars accompanying him participated. The concert netted almost a thousand dollars.

PARIS ACTS SUPPRESSED.

Exhibitions of Undraped Women at Music Halls Stopped by Police.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 7.—Owing to the publicity given to a letter of Senator Bergger calling the attention of the police to the fact that undraped women were appearing nightly on the stage in various music halls, all of these places did a big business to-night.

The crowds were disappointed, however, as early in the evening the police visited the halls and ordered the obnoxious turns suppressed.

FIFTH KNEISEL CONCERT.

Quartet by Roffredo Caetani and a Franck Quintet Particularly Impressive.

The fifth concert in the series of the Kneisel Quartet was given last night at Mendelssohn Hall. The programme comprised a quartet by Roffredo Caetani, which was played for the first time in New York; César Franck's piano quintet, and Haydn's quartet in G major, Op. 76, No. 1. The assisting pianist was Mme. Olga Samaroff.

Roffredo Caetani is a name not wholly unknown to local concertgoers. A symphonic prelude of his in E flat was played at a concert of the Philharmonic Society as long ago as Nov. 15, 1902. Caetani is one of the few Italian composers who have turned their attention to absolute music. He studied in Germany and France as well as with Sgambati at Rome, and was spoken of as one of the ardent Italian adherents of Wagner.

The quartet, Opus 12, played yesterday by Mr. Kneisel and his associates is in three movements.—an "allegro moderato" changing to "allegro," in F minor; a "molto lento" in E flat minor, and a "presto" in G minor. The quartet is modern in style and with scarcely a hint of typically Italian musical utterance. The passionate unrest of the first movement and the poignant song of the second are even further removed from the rut of convention than the impetuous finale.

"The Kneisels" played the quartet with their accustomed skill and more than their accustomed warmth. But their most impressive achievement was in the quintet of César Franck. Here the four members of the quartet were assisted by Mme. Olga Samaroff, who played the piano part with evident sympathy and much temperamental force.

The genial quartet by Haydn closed the concert in a flood of eighteenth century sunshine.

CALLS 'MERRY WIDOW' AN ELDERLY DOWAGER

Gertrude Hoffman, Vaudeville Actress, Says the Opera Was Produced in 1861.

MERELY AN ADAPTATION

Court Vacates Injunction Forbidding Her to Use Parts of the Production on Stage.

Judge Ward, in the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, vacated the restraining order previously granted to Henry W. Savage, who claims the exclusive producing rights to "The Merry Widow," against Gertrude Hoffman. The court held that there was doubt as to the complainant's title to the opera.

Mr. Savage, through his attorneys, contended that the defendant had been giving a series of imitations in vaudeville performances, appearing in a costume like that worn by Sonia in "The Merry Widow," dancing with a male assistant, and singing the words of the song, while the orchestra played the music of the "Merry Widow Waltz." He also alleged a burlesque imitation of the waltz.

Herman Fromme, counsel for Mr. Savage, said that Miss Hoffman's imitations were in violation of Mr. Savage's rights, and asked that she be permanently restrained. Nathan Burkan, for the defendant, denied that "The Merry Widow" was an original opera, and produced an affidavit by Miss Hoffman, in which she said that the opera was not original with Victor Leon and Leo Stein, but was an adaptation from a play entitled "L'Attaché d'Ambassade," and was produced in Paris at the Theatre du Vaudeville on or about March 12, 1861.

She said also that the play was published in book form, and a copy was to be found at the Astor Library in this city. Moreover, according to the affidavit of Miss Hoffman, the piece was translated and adapted to the German stage.

In concluding his decision the court said:

"A preliminary injunction should only be granted on a perfectly clear case, and as I have doubts as to the complainant's title, the restraining order is vacated and the complainant left to prove his rights on final hearing."

A representative of Mr. Savage said last night that he did not consider the decision of the court, with respect to a temporary injunction, as of any great importance, since Mr. Savage would surely be able to establish his rights later.

WALTER JONES MARRIES AGAIN

Recently Divorced Tramp Impersonator Makes Blanche Deyo His Bride.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Walter Newton Jones, known far and wide as a tramp impersonator, was married yesterday to Miss Blanche Lillian Pixley, better known as Blanche Deyo, the vaudeville dancer, only a few weeks after his previous wife had divorced him in the Illinois courts.

Miss Deyo was also recently divorced. Jones and she are playing together in vaudeville. The ceremony was performed at Crown Point, Ind., by Judge Harry B. Nicholson. Mr. Jones still retains his residence here, it is said, and if so he runs counter to the recent decision of Judge George A. Carpenter, who interprets the statute barring remarriage within a year to have force even over weddings performed outside the State.

Less than two months ago Jones was legally separated from his wife, formerly Mrs. Frederick King Pulsifer, originally Miss Beatrice Champlin. Mrs. Jones filed her suit on Feb. 4 and obtained her decree of divorce largely through evidence which involved a vaudeville actress whose name did not appear.

ITALIAN OPERA CO.'S PLANS.

To Play on Broadway for Twenty Weeks—To Have a School Also.

The management of the Italian Grand Opera Company, which will appear next week at the Academy of Music, announced last night that negotiations were under way whereby the company will appear at a Broadway theatre for twenty weeks each season, presenting opera at popular prices. The company has recently played a season of ten weeks in Chicago with financial success.

It is also proposed to start a school of opera in conjunction with the theatre, and of this Domenico Russo, the principal tenor of the company, will be the leading instructor. Mr. Russo sang with Mme. Tetrazzini at the Tivoli Opera House in San Francisco.

Miss Akers Gives a Song Recital.

A song recital was given yesterday afternoon in Mendelssohn Hall by Sally Frothingham Akers, a New York singer of talent. The programme was an attempt to get out of the beaten track, and included many unfamiliar songs. The audience was of good size.

Reunion of Columbia Philharmonic.

Seventy past and present students will participate in the annual Reunion Concert of the Columbia University Philharmonic Society to be held this evening at Mendelssohn Hall. The orchestra will be under the direction of Prof. Cornelius Rübner, head of the music department at the university.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Dull and Strong — Call Money Rates, 2@1½ Per Cent.

EXPECT GOOD WHEAT CROP

Outlook for Excellent Government Report To-day the Market Factor —Money Rates Easier.

With one exception, trading on the stock market yesterday was the lightest of the year. Transactions fell to some 260,000 shares, and in one hour of the session only 15,000 shares changed hands. There was a disposition on the floor of the Stock Exchange to attribute this inactivity to the supposed uncertainty as to the reception which the Erie financial plan will receive at the hands of noteholders to-day, when, in order to take advantage of the Directors' offer of $5,000,000 cash for new notes, holders of the present securities must exchange them absolutely for equal amounts of the new issue. It is doubtful, however, if any one seriously believes that a few recalcitrant noteholders will be permitted to block the plan by a demand for cash for their notes. The larger holdings will presumably be exchanged without hesitation, since the new note is made inviting through the offer of collateral. If the Erie situation was the underlying reason for the day's dullness, the prospect of an exceptionally favorable Government crop report to-day was probably the cause for the strength of prices. The outlook from the various State reports so far published, as well as from information gleaned through private examinations of the Winter wheat areas, is for a condition approximating 90, and such a percentage has obviously been looked for by grain markets, which have been steadily declining for some days. The Chicago grain market was closed yesterday, but on the local Produce Exchange wheat prices went still lower, another factor in the fall being the appearance of timely moisture over large sections of wheat crop territory. The narrowness of the day's market is well illustrated by the fact that after the very dull noon hour buying orders of only a few thousand shares each in Reading and Union Pacific served to lift, not only the prices of these stocks, but also of nearly all other shares. The movement from this time on was forward, and at the close of the day practically all active stocks disclosed moderate gains. A rise of 1¾ points in Union Pacific was explained in part by the February earnings statement of that road, with its loss of only $218,000 in net after a decrease of $413,000 in gross earnings. The Southern Pacific statement for the some period was less favorable, its gross loss having been $1,756,000, and its net $1,446,000. The Southern Pacific's return for the completed portion of the fiscal year makes even poorer showing, for with a gain of $3,852,000 in gross, its net decrease is over $7,197,000. The relative heaviness of the Steel shares provoked discussion of the ability of the steel manufacturers to maintain prices in accordance with their numerous agreements to this effect, but so far, at least, there is no evidence of a break in the ranks of the producers.

In the money market the most interesting development was the decline in the rates for short time periods to quotations well under 3 per cent. These low rates, however, are quite in keeping with money market movements in other post-panic periods, and reflect nothing more than the accumulation of idle money and the indisposition of lenders to make long-term commitments. Foreign exchange rates moved up a trifle further, but Paris took no more gold during the day from London. An important statement from the Clearing House on the details of the issue of certificates during the disturbances last year make even clearer the undesirability of the municipal bond-secured emergency circulation proposed by the Aldrich bill. Of securities valued at $453,000,000 which passed through the hands of the Clearing House Loan Committee, forming the basis of loan certificates, 73 per cent. represented commercial paper and only 27 per cent. bonds and stocks. This shows clearly enough the class of collateral which banks have to offer in times of stress.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

End of Erie Influence?

To-day will probably mark the end of the Erie mystery, which has furnished much food for gossip in the financial district and is credited with neutralizing many good influences and tendencies which were beginning to be noted. Every possible adverse condition in the market in the last ten days has been attributed, rightly or wrongly, to Erie, and it will be necessary to find another explanation, assuming that the market does not go right after it has been announced that the proposed plan has been adopted—assuming that it is adopted. Even the bond houses appear to regard Erie as a banal influence in the investment market. They point out that until the status of the notes has been established and it has been determined how the holders will fare it is impossible to inspire general investment enthusiasm. Erie has been a blessing to many brokers who had clients of an inquiring turn of mind.

Peppermint Profits.

Some curious financial statements obtain publicity in Wall Street from time to time representing industries which at first blush seem to have little in the way of dignity about them. There is, for instance, a snuff company which makes large earnings, a chewing gum company which is equally successful from the financial point of view, a caramel company, and at least one candy company, all these being concerns of large capitalization. One of the candy companies made public its report for the year ended Dec. 31 last a day or so ago, and yesterday it fell under the eye of a Wall Street man whose memory runs back pleasantly to the days of peppermint sticks and Jackson balls. When he saw that the concern's net earnings for the year were $319,242, he instinctively reached for a pad of paper and figured that this meant sales of 31,926,200 sticks of peppermint, a showing which convinced him that the rising generation is doing its best to maintain the traditions of his own times.

Planning Speculative Campaigns.

Apparently a dull market serves to stimulate the imagination with regard to future developments in the trading of certain stocks. There was nothing in yesterday's market which would warrant the invention of explanations, inasmuch as the short interest and the Erie matter sufficed, but there were those who found it possible to map out campaigns which are to be carried out in the next few weeks or few months. It is said in all seriousness that a recent spectacular operation in the floating of a big block of a certain stock is but the prelude to more important operations which will involve one of the important trading stocks on the Exchange. This is gently rumored, and while the stock is mentioned in whispers, it is doubtful whether much mystery is attached to it, and also whether there is any foundation for the rumors themselves. They are simply suggestive as possibilities. It is said that one purpose of a campaign designed to inspire public interest would be the wider distribution of this particular stock, which for some time has been held largely in speculative hands, principally in Wall Street. This meant that on any substantial advance stocks would come quickly on the market, interfering with well-laid plans.

Echoes of the Panic.

Much interest was manifested in the report of the Loan Committee of the Clearing House Association relative to the issue of Clearing House loan certificates. The figures are absolutely conclusive with regard to the seriousness of the situation, and interesting in that they show the effectiveness of the organization in times of stress. Most traders, brokers, and casual followers of financial conditions simply regarded the exciting runs on a few institutions as the best test of the conditions then existing. An out-of-town banker who was visiting in the district when the figures were published, said: "It is obvious that your bankers down here had more or less of a strenuous time, and I doubt very much if the real condition was appreciated, which, in itself, is a very good thing. If the figures had been published daily there would have been more nervousness, which would have inevitably retarded the eventual betterment. Compare the total of securities which passed through the hands of the Loan Committee with 1893 and you will find something very significant."

Novel Tunnel Building.

Talking about the prospective subways which are to be built in this city and the effect which the increase of the debt limit will have on interborough traffic, an old mining man, now high in politics, who is a client in a well-known brokerage house, remarked yesterday that he was once interested in a tunnel which was a very profitable venture for a friend of his in Colorado. "Railroading in my section of the country at that time," he remarked, "was primitive, but for some reason or other an urgency contract was let for the building of a tunnel in midwinter between our town or camp, as you might call it, and a point about a mile and a half distant. My partner got the contract, and he was very mysterious about it. He arranged the terms so that because of the alleged character of the work he was to get $40 a foot. I could go into details with regard to the preliminaries, but suffice it to say that within a certain specified time, unusually short, as a matter of fact, he sent for the engineer representing the company making the contract to pass on the work. It went through all right, and was approved. Now that seems all right, but as a matter of fact my friend "Gassy," as he was called, had built a tunnel through a snow mountain, put in timbers to support the weight of the snow, covered the exterior snow with dirt and mud, and decamped with the check which the fool company gave him. When he made a strike later he returned the amount with interest."

$14,870,000 CASH FOR MEXICAN MERGER

New Capital to be Furnished Through Sale of Prior Lien and Guaranteed Bonds.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL

Mexico Gets a Large Slice of Bonds and Majority of Common Stock for its Bond Guarantees.

Formal announcement is made to-day of the terms of exchange of the merger of the National Railroad of Mexico and the Mexico Central under the auspices of the Mexican Government. The merger is to be accomplished through a new company, the National Railways of Mexico, control of which will be exercised by the Mexican Government through stock ownership. The capitalization of this company was announced some time ago, and the terms of exchange of most of the securities of the old companies have also become known.

The agreement in reference to the plan of readjustment and of consolidation shows that the cash requirements of the plan will amount to $14,870,000. This includes $5,500,000 of floating debt to be taken up and $6,500,000 to be supplied as additional working capital. Out of this sum there will also be provided the expenses of the readjustment, including the compensation of the readjustment managers. This money will be raised through the sale to the readjustment managers of $10,000,000 prior lien 4½ per cent. bonds and $6,750,000 guaranteed 4 per cent. bonds.

The Mexican Government, in connection with its guarantee of the general mortgage 4 per cent. bonds of the new company and for other considerations, is to receive $6,000,000 of prior lien 4½ per cent. bonds, $2,450,000 general mortgage bonds, and $63,730,000 out of the $75,000,000 of common stock of the new company.

Depositories are named in the agreement for the several classes of outstanding securities, and provision is made for vesting in the readjustment managers all the powers necessary to carry the plan through. It is provided that should any material change be made in the plan the holders of the particular class of securities affected will have the right to withdraw.

The new company will control a total mileage of 6,987. It will have a total stock capitalization of $230,000,000 in addition to $385,000,000 of bonds. Of the new company's two bond issues the general lien 4s are guaranteed, principal and interest, by the Mexican Government.

COPPER PROFITS DROP.

Utah Consolidated 1907 Net Earnings Less Than Half of Those of 1906.

The annual report of the Utah Consolidated Copper Company, for the year ended Dec. 31, shows net earnings from sales, &c., of $2,939,070, compared with $4,606,915 in 1906. The profits for the year were $1,179,412, compared with $2,885,008 in 1906.

Last year nothing was transferred to the general reserve, although $350,000 was devoted to this purpose in the previous year. The surplus for the year, totaling $1,179,412, amounted to 78.6 per cent. on the capital stock of $1,500,000, and represents a decline of $655,596 in comparison with 1906.

Adding in previous surplus the total surplus was $3,630,639, from which the payment of dividends of $2,100,000 left a profit and loss surplus of $1,530,639. The dividends increased by $600,000 over those paid in 1906.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, April 7.—Money was in quiet demand and in good supply on the market to-day. Discounts were easy in anticipation that the India Council soon would release the gold set aside for the Bank of England.

Trading on the Stock Exchange was idle and uninteresting. Consols hardened a fraction now that the County Council loan has appeared, but other British as well as the foreign securities barely moved until the afternoon, when moderate buying caused a firmer close in these sections.

American shares started a fraction over parity on professional support and maintained their improvement in the forenoon, but the dealings locally were small pending more definite news regarding the arrangements made for the Erie Railroad. Later the New York opening failed to stimulate activity, and the market finished quiet with a hardening tendency. Copper shares were firm.

Bar silver quiet, 25¾d per ounce.

Money, 2@2½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 2⅝ per cent.

PARIS, April 7.—Trading on the Bourse to-day was dull and prices were indecisive.

Exchange on London, 25 francs 12½ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, April 7.—Trading on the Boerse to-day was quiet; prices were irregular and but slightly changed.

Loan Committee Makes Report of Relief to Banks During the Panic.

The first official report of the work of the Loan Committee of the Clearing House, upon which fell the heaviest part of the work of that body in taking care of the banks under fire during the money flurry last Fall, was made public yesterday. The chief items in the report were made known early in the year by President Gilbert of the Clearing House, and were then printed in THE TIMES.

The report shows that certificates amounting to $101,000,000 were issued, but the maximum amount outstanding at any one time was on Dec. 16, when $88,420,000 were out.

During the period between Oct. 26, 1907, when the first certificates were issued, and March 28 last, when the final cancellations were made, the Loan Committee passed on securities valued at $458,000,000, of which $330,000,000, or 73 per cent., was in commercial paper and $128,000,000, or 27 per cent., in stocks and bonds.

Of the 52 banks in the association 32 took out certificates. The largest amount issued to any one bank was $17,000,000. The smallest was $250,000. The interest received by banks which loaned money on the certificates amounted to $1,116,245.

The first cancellations were made on Nov. 14, nineteen days after the first issue. It was 154 days, or 22 weeks, from the day of first issue until the last certificate was canceled.

BANKER RAPS ALDRICH BILL.

President Blum of the Chicago Section Says Its Harm Would Be Serious.

Members of the Clearing House Section of the American Bankers' Association have been circularized by August Blum of Chicago, President of the section, urging opposition to the Aldrich bill.

Mr. Blum's letter declares it to be the opinion of bankers who have studied the bill and its amendments that it will work a serious injury to the business interests of the country.

"I feel it my duty," he says," to urge upon your body to take immediate steps to use its influence, directly and indirectly, with members of the House to prevent its passage."

THE COFFEE MARKET.

Coffee was rather more active yesterday, but prices showed no important change, the close being steady, net unchanged, to 5 points higher. Sales were reported of 26,000 bags. The market opened at a partial advance of 5 points, in response to higher European cables. Receipts at the two Brazilian ports were 21,000 bags, against 51,000 bags last year and 20,000 bags two years ago. Jundiahy receipts were 9,000 bags, against 26,000 bags last year and 5,000 bags two years ago. Rio was 50 reis higher, but Santos was unchanged. The French market closed at a net advance of ¼f, while Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ pfennig higher. Of the heavy world's visible supply, about 5,000,000 bags are supposed to be controlled by the Brazilian Government, while about 7,400,000 bags are carried by the trade.

Spot coffee was quiet; 6c for Rio No. 7.

The range of contract prices in the local markets was as follows:

NO INDICTMENT FOR ICE TRUST OR OLER

Grand Jury Presentment Rebukes Attorney General's Deputy for His Attitude.

MISLED BY MR. OSBORNE

Evidence He Presented Wholly Insufficient—Six Favored Indictments—Traction Presentment Next.

The special Grand Jury impaneled at the request of the Attorney General for the January term of the Supreme Court, chiefly to investigate the American Ice Company, made a presentment on this case before Justice Dowling yesterday in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. In the presentment it expresses displeasure at the attempt made by Deputy Attorney General James W. Osborne, on behalf of Mr. Jackson, to withdraw the case from its hands when its investigation was nearly completed a month ago, and stated that, in spite of the contrary opinion of Mr. Osborne, deputed to conduct the examination, it saw no grounds to indict the company or Mr. Oler, its President.

This, in part, is the presentment which was handed to the Clerk of the court by Foreman Edward J. Cuddihy:

"At the request of the Attorney General on Feb. 19 we suspended all other investigations then pending before us and entered upon an investigation of the American Ice Company.

"On March 5 the Deputy Attorney General informed us that he had virtually concluded the presentation of evidence and that he would sum up the case, submitting it to us on the 9th. On that day he told us that indictments were being prepared, and that on the 11th he would present them to us for action.

"The proceedings were in this condition when on March 10, notwithstanding his previous statement that he was preparing indictments and would submit the matter to us, the Deputy Attorney General appeared, read his correspondence with the Attorney General, and announced that he desired to withdraw the matter from our consideration.

"When we demanded to be informed of the reasons for this withdrawal he told us that the requisite number of jurors had not heard all the evidence and that on this account any indictment found by us might be open to serious attack. But our evidence showed that seventeen jurors had been present on every occasion when evidence had been submitted. We were not satisfied with this reason and asked your Honor's instructions.

"When the matter was presented in open court we heard for the first time from the Attorney General and his deputy that the proceedings in this case were for investigation only and that it was not intended to submit the matter to us for indictment.

"We were astonished with this, especially as only a few days before he had told us that he had virtually finished his case, would sum it up, and would then submit it to us for our vote.

"Following your Honor's instruction that we had authority to do so, on March 11 we directed the Deputy Attorney General to proceed with his case, and to submit all the evidence he had, without regard to any limitation of time. At the request of the Deputy Attorney General the matter was adjourned to the 16th.

"When he appeared before us, introduced some further testimony, and submitted the case to us for vote. He asked that we find indictments against the American Ice Company and against its President, Wesley M. Oler. In submitting his case he reviewed all the evidence, argued that he had proved his case to a mathematical certainty on documentary evidence, and instructed us that we could find true bills against the defendants indicated.

"He charged us that not only the seventeen Grand Jurors above referred to could vote, but that all could vote, as all had heard the documentary evidence on which he relied to prove his case. After a careful consideration of all the evidence, taking the interpretations of the law from the Deputy Attorney General, we came to the conclusion that the evidence before us would not warrant a petit jury in convicting the American Ice Company or Wesley M. Oler, or any other person of any crime, and therefore we voted to find no bill."

Justice Dowling then thanked the jury, making no comment on the presentment, and the body adjourned until April 20, when a presentment on the Metropolitan Street Railway Company is expected.

The vote to find no bill, which terminated the investigation of the American Ice Company nearly a month ago was opposed by six members of the Grand Jury, who favored an indictment.

BROKERS CHEER FOR HOLIDAY

They Ask That Stock Exchange Close on Good Friday and Easter Saturday.

Stock Exchange members who have not found business very brisk of late have petitioned the Governors to close the Exchange on Good Friday and Easter Saturday. The petition, which is signed by a majority of the floor traders, was received with cheers yesterday when it was read from the rostrum by Chairman Talbot.

The Governing Committee meets to-day, and it is expected that they will then decide whether to close the Exchange for the two days, or, as they did last year, only on Easter Saturday. The London Stock Exchange will close on Holy Thursday afternoon not to open until Easter Tuesday morning.

The Coffee Exchange has already decided to close on Good Friday and Easter Saturday.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Bottles Containing Over One Pint Pay Higher Duty—Other Decisions.

It was decided yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers that Henry Shierer of New York cannot be granted lower duty on mineral water contained in colored bottles. The importer objected to the action of the customs authorities in assessing duty at the rate of 30 cents per dozen bottles as containing over 1 pint, and not over 1 quart.

The protestant alleged that the bottles did not contain over 16 fluid ounces each, equal to 1 pint. Judge Somerville states in the decision that the bottles are not uniform in capacity, while the samples adduced on behalf of the importer show the capacity of the receptacles to be 17 ounces. On this account the protest is overruled.

Other importers' claims overruled were filed by Charles Zinn & Co., New York; Hamilton & Co., New Haven, Conn.; M. Henderson, Niagara Falls, and A. E. Rosenthal, Galveston.

The board sustained a protest filed by the Syndicate Trading Company, New York.

Larter & Son Try Lost and Found Column to Find What Boy Lost.

While traveling on a Subway train last Monday, a messenger boy for Larter & Son, diamond merchants, of 23 Maiden Lane, had a fit of forgetfulness that may cost the firm $3,000 unless some reader of the Lost and Found column of THE NEW YORK TIMES finds a satchel full of valuable jewelry and claims the reward of $200 which is offered by the firm for the bag's return.

It was said by a member of the firm yesterday that a messenger boy in the employ of the firm was sent to a customer on Monday for a quantity of jewelry which had been left to make selections from. He took a Subway train, and when it reached the Brooklyn Bridge station he left the train in a hurry and forgot to take the satchel with him. The boy did not think of it until he had reached the office of the firm. Then there was a hurrying and scurrying to catch the train somewhere on the line, it being a local, and at the same time a report was made to the office of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. Investigation by the company led to notifying Larter & Son that no such satchel had been turned in to the company by any of the trainmen.

The matter was then reported to the police, and a private detective was put on a search for the satchel in addition to inserting an advertisement in the Lost and Found column.

$5,000 GREAT NORTHERN FINE.

Road Found Guilty of Rebating by Judge Holt—Case Appealed.

The Great Northern Railway Company was found guilty of rebating yesterday in the United States Circuit Court, and was fined $5,000 by Judge Holt. The company obtained a stay of sentence pending the filing of a bill of exceptions.

This was one of the many rebate cases instituted by the United States District Attorney a couple of years ago as a result of disclosures of the dealings between the American Sugar Refining Company and the railroads. The New York Central was the first road to be convicted.

Since then the Sugar Trust has pleaded guilty to its share in the various rebate cases and has been fined. In the case of the Great Northern the payment was upon the shipment of 8,500,000 pounds of sugar from Superior, Mich., to Soo City, and amounted to about $10,000. That was the amount of the fine imposed by Judge Holt. Yesterday the fine assessed upon the Great Northern was $5,000, the mitigating circumstance being that the road did not try to conceal the payment of the rebate on its books.

TOBACCO PARTNERS DISAGREE

Receiver Named for Wholesale Firm of Lévi, Blumenstiel & Co.

Judge Hendrick of the Supreme Court yesterday appointed Alexander Blumenstiel and Aaron J. Bach receivers for the assets of the firm of Levi, Blumenstiel & Co., wholesale tobacco merchants, 147 Water Street, in a suit brought by Alexander Blumenstiel against Morris J. Levi, his partner, for an accounting and to wind up the partnership. The bond of the receivers was fixed at $100,000.

It was stated that the firm was perfectly solvent. Mr. Levi has been sick for some time past, suffering from nervous prostration, it is said. The firm has been in business since 1892, has built up a large trade, and was a grower of tobacco in Porto Rico, and also manufactured cigars. The statement of Jan. 1 last showed assets $567,011 and liabilities $158,212.

Mr. Blumenstiel was President and Mr. Levi Treasurer of the National Cuba Company, importer of cigars, capitalized at $1,000,000, and of the American West Indies Trading Company, manufacturer of cigars in New York and Porto Rico, capitalized at $250,000.

C. F. KING'S CONCERN FAILS.

Boston Promoter's Lamp Company Goes Into Receiver's Hands.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Alton Manufacturing Company, manufacturer of gas lamps, burners, &c., at 451 Greenwich Street, of which C. F. King, the Boston promoter, was President, by Olcott, Gruber, Bonynge & McManus, attorneys for the Bridgeport Brass Company, a creditor for $615, and two other small creditors.

It was alleged that the corporation was insolvent, in January last transferred to Mr. King, who was then President, a glass plant at Sandwich, Mass., valued at $35,000, for antecedent indebtedness, and made transfers to other creditors.

Judge Hough of the United States District Court appointed Harvey T. Andrews receiver. It was stated that the assets were $9,000 and liabilities $10,000.

Mr. Serles of Palmer & Serles, attorneys for the company, when they learned of the appointment of a receiver said that the company was solvent and the bankruptcy proceedings would be contested. The company was incorporated in May, 1906, with a capital stock of $1,500,000. Mr. King's bankruptcy in Boston was reported a few weeks ago. He was the promoter of the King-Crowther Corporation and other schemes.

ERIE NOTES DUE TO-DAY.

Success or Failure of Refunding Plan to be Known at 3 P. M.

The list of securities to be pledged as security for the Erie three-year notes, which are offered in exchange for the notes which mature to-day, was made public yesterday. The securities to be pledged are:

Nine million four hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars Erie Railroad Company general lien 4 per cent. gold bonds; $985,000 Erie Railroad Company 4 per cent. convertible fifty-year gold bonds, Series B; $625,000 Mutual Terminal Company of Buffalo, N. Y., first mortgage 4 per cent. twenty-year sinking fund gold bonds; $336,000 Erie Railroad Company-Pennsylvania collateral 4 per cent. gold bonds; $1,134,000 Hocking Valley Railway Company common stock; $145,700 Temple Iron Company stock, and $134,000 Lehigh & Hudson River Railway Company stock.

These have a total par value of about $12,800,000, but their market value, of course, under present conditions is much below that amount.

No information was given yesterday regarding the amount of notes which had been deposited for exchange, and it was said that no statement on this point could be expected until after the close of business to-day at 3 P. M. The present noteholders have until 3 o'clock to-day to deposit their notes under the offer of exchange. Upon the amount of to-day's deposits will hang the success of the plan which was devised at the close of last week to meet the situation arising from the necessity of meeting $5,500,000 of notes due to-day.

NEW SECURITIES.

The New Company is to authorize the following bonds and shares:

All bonds are to be payable, both as to principal and interest, without deduction for any taxes which the Company may be required to pay thereon or to deduct therefrom under any present or future law of the United States of Mexico or of any State or municipality therein or of the United States of America or of the State of New York or any municipality in said State, and are to be payable, both as to principal and interest, in the City of New York, in gold coin of the United States of America, of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, and all coupon bonds are also to be payable, both as to principal and interest, at the option of the holder, in the City of Mexico, at the fixed rate of Two Gold Pesos to the dollar in Mexican Gold Pesos, or in London at the fixed rate of $4.86 to the Pound Sterling, and at such places as the Readjustment Managers may determine at the fixed rate of Four Reichsmarks Twenty Pfennigs, if in Germany, or Five Francs Eighteen Centimes, if in France, Belgium, or Switzerland, or Two Guilders Forty-eight Cents to the dollar, if in Holland.

The dividends on the First Preferred Shares and on the Second Preferred Shares, and in case of liquidation, the amount distributable on either class of preferred shares, are to be made payable at the option of the holder, at the fixed rate of two Pesos to the dollar, either in the City of Mexico in Mexican Gold Pesos, or in the City of New York in United States Gold, in each case of the present standard of weight and fineness. Such dividends are to be payable without deduction of any tax which the Company may be required to pay thereon or to deduct therefrom under any present or future law of the United States of Mexico or of any State or municipality therein.

a. Prior Lien Four and One-Half Per Cent. Sinking Fund Redeemable Gold Bonds, for $225,000,000 United States Gold.

The Prior Lien Bonds are to mature July 1, 1937, interest payable semi-annually, January 1 and July 1. They are to be secured under mortgage or deed of trust to Central Trust Company of New York, by the deposit and pledge as a first charge of all securities embraced in the Plan as finally carried out, and otherwise as detailed in the Plan, and provision is to be made in the mortgage for the creation by the New Company of a sinking fund, beginning for the year 1917, and calculated to be sufficient, with accumulations, to retire the entire issue at or before maturity. They are to be subject to purchase for the sinking fund; and to redemption on any interest day after January 1, 1917, at 105 and accrued interest, on not less than 90 days' notice.

The right is reserved to issue $6,000,000 additional bonds ranking "pari passu" with the other bonds of this series to take up or retire at or before maturity $1,200,000 Prior Lien Sterling Bonds of the Mexican International Railroad Company, or an equal amount of Prior Lien Bonds of National R. R. Co. of Mexico into which such Sterling Bonds of the International Company may have been refunded.

b. General Mortgage Four Per Cent. Sinking Fund Redeemable Gold Bonds, for $160,000,000 United States Gold, unconditionally guaranteed, principal and interest, by the Republic of Mexico, by endorsement on each bond.

The Guaranteed General Mortgage Bonds are to mature October 1, 1977, interest payable semi-annually, April 1 and October 1. They are to be secured under mortgage or deed of trust to The New York Trust Company by a charge, subject to the Prior Lien Mortgage of all securities and properties at any time embraced in such mortgage, and provision is to be made in the mortgage for the creation by the New Company of a sinking fund, beginning for the year 1937, and calculated to be sufficient with accumulations to retire the entire issue at or before maturity. They are to be subject to purchase by the sinking fund; and to redemption on any interest day after April 1, 1927, at par and accrued interest, on not less than 90 days' notice.

The right is reserved to issue additional bonds ranking "pari passu" with the other bonds of this series to take up or retire at or before maturity an equal amount of the Consolidated Mortgage Bonds of the Mexican International R. R. Co., or of Consolidated Mortgage Bonds of the National R. R. Co. of Mexico, into which such bonds of the International Co. may have been refunded, and also to issue additional bonds to take up or retire at or before maturity an equal amount of the Consolidated Mortgage Bonds of the National R. R. Co. of Mexico, into which Prior Lien Bonds of that Company may have been refunded.

c. Non-Cumulative Four Per Cent. First Preferred Shares for 60,000,000 Mexican Gold Pesos or $30,000,000 United States Gold.

To assure to the holders of First Preferred Shares the payment of semi-annual dividends of 1% for the period of three years from January 1, 1908, to the extent to which the net profits of the Company which shall first be applied for that purpose shall not be sufficient to make such payment, provision is to be made for the setting aside by the Company, as a separate fund, of $1,800,000 Prior Lien Bonds, and $1,200,000 Guaranteed General Mortgage Bonds, or in case of a sale thereof, then a sufficient amount of the proceeds thereof.

d. Non-Cumulative Five Cent. Second Preferred Shares for 250,000,000 Mexican Gold Pesos or $125,000,000 United States Gold.

The Second Preferred Shares shall confer on the holders thereof the right to receive each year out of surplus profits dividends up to 5 per cent. on their par value after the dividend of 4 per cent. on the First Preferred Shares for such year shall have been paid or set aside and before any dividend shall be paid for such year on the Common Shares, but no deficiency in such dividend in any such year shall be made up out of the surplus profits of subsequent years. After payment of such dividend of 5 per cent., any residue of surplus profits distributable in dividends for such year shall be paid to the holders of the Second Preferred Shares and to the holders of the Common Shares constituting part of the initial capital, in proportion to their respective holdings, without regard to class.

e. Common Shares for 150,000,000 Mexican Gold Pesos or $75,000,000 United States Gold.

For a full statement of the rights of the holders of the respective classes of shares, reference is made to the Decree of the Federal Government of the Republic of Mexico, dated July 6, 1907, a copy of which has been filed with each of the Depositaries and can be inspected at the offices of any of the Depositaries.

METHODIST PASTORS ARE SHIFTED ABOUT

Conference Makes Few Important Changes Here, but Up-River Rearrangement Is Large.

CHURCH'S LABOR ATTITUDE

Alienation of Workers from the Church Deplored and Ministers Urged to Study Social Problems.

The 109th assemblage of the New York Methodist Episcopal Conference closed yesterday at St. James's Church, Madison Avenue and 128th Street, with the reading of the appointments to pastorates by Bishop David H. Moore, the presiding officer. There were few changes made in the more important New York City pastorates, but in the up-river districts the number of shifts were larger than usual.

Fully 300 ministers were in the church yesterday morning when Bishop Moore commenced the reading of the long list of appointments. He read the names in a low, droning voice in the midst of the most profound silence, broken only by a tense sigh as now and then some pastor heard himself promoted to a desirable "charge" or heard his name read before that of a strange or distant pastorate. On the whole the appointments were eminently satisfactory, and many of them were greeted with applause.

Before the reading of the list some unfinished business was taken up, the most interesting of which was the report of the Committee on The Church and Labor, being apropos of the sermon of the Rev. Dr. Barnett on Monday, in which he severely arraigned the Church for its attitude toward labor. The report read in part:

We deplore the misunderstanding which results in the alienation of a considerable body of manual workers in our country from the Church of Christ, and pledge ourselves to seek the remedying of this estrangement by all honorable means.

We recommend our brethren in the ministry to acquaint themselves as fully as possible with the current economic situation, not only by the patient study of the organized labor movement, but also by personal contact with leaders of social and industrial reform in the various communities in which their ministry is exercised.

We suggest the more specific application of the social teachings of Jesus to the problems which vex our present social order. We record our relentless hostility to the iniquities of the sweat shop and of social orders. We request the approaching General Conference to give as large consideration as practicable to the subject of industrial peace, and to make such a deliverance thereon as shall suitably emphasize the sympathy of our denomination with all well-directed efforts in behalf of social and economic improvement.

Bishop Moore then presented the Rev. Dr. F. L. Wilson, the retiring Presiding Elder of the Kingston District, with a substantial purse, contributed by members of the district.

The principal changes in the churches of this city were the transfer of the Rev. T. H. Baragwanath from Grace Methodist Church in West 104th Street to the Washington Square Church in West Fourth Street, of the Rev. Dr. J. E. Price from the Bedford Street Church to the Washington Heights Church, and the Rev. Dr. J. W. Campbell from the latter church to Central Church, Yonkers. The Rev. Mr. Baragwanath is succeeded at Grace Church by his former assistant pastor, the Rev. Charles H. Cookman, who has been located for the last four years at Middletown.

The Rev. John Wesley Hill succeeds the Rev. Robert Bagnall at Metropolitan Temple. The Rev. Dr. Price is succeeded at the Bedford Street Church by the Rev. William Potts George, and the Rev. Dr. R. E. Wilson leaves the Central Church, Yonkers, to become Presiding Elder of the Poughkeepsie District, succeeding the Rev. Dr. A. J. Palmer, who retires from active service for a time on account of his health. He will be stationed as assistant to the Rev. Dr. G. P. Eckman at St. Paul's.

The appointment of the Rev. Hugh Houston to take up Dr. Wilson's work as Presiding Elder of the Kingston District was greeted with loud applause. He is one of the youngest ministers in the Church holding such a prominent position. He was for three years at the Centenary Church in this city, and for the last three years has been pastor of St. James's Church, Kingston, where Dr. Wilson will be stationed. The Rev. Sanford C. Hearn of Walden, Railroad Secretary of the conference, goes to the First Church of Yonkers.

No change was made in the most important churches in this city, Dr. Eckman of St. Paul's, the Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen of the Madison Avenue Church, the Rev. Dr. D. W. Thompson of the Park Avenue Church, the Rev. Allan MacRoossie of St. James's, and the Rev. Dr. C. L. Goodell of Calvary all remaining at their charges. This will be Dr. Eckman's twelfth year at St. Paul's, practically the longest pastorate in the history of the Church with the exception of the Rev. W. H. Brooks, colored, who has been at the West Fifty-third Street African Church for the same length of time.

The Rev. Frank Beale, against whom charges were brought at the present conference, which after being referred to a committee were dismissed on the ground of insufficient evidence, was transferred from Ellenville to Tivoli, which seemed to be regarded by the conference as in the nature of a promotion.

The other changes in pastorates are:

New York District—Frank B. Cripsell, West Pleasantville to Ardsley; S. Gedney Keyser, Athens to Banksville and Armonk; Gilbert D. Fisher, Coxyman's Hollow to Croton Lake; George R. Abrams, Ravena to Dobb's Ferry; R. H. Kelley, Hartsdale to Katonah; Frederic Withey, Gardnertown to Lake Mahopac; Thomas R. Wallace, Canaan, Conn., to Mount Kisco; William Ackroyd, Stamford to Forty-fourth Street Church, this city; Edwin A. Lowthe, Washington Square Church, this city, to St. Stephen's; Herbert E. Wright, Mount Kisco to Asbury Church, Tarrytown; Robert Knapp, Catskill to St. Paul's, Tarrytown; William R. Blackie, Mossemere Church, Yonkers, to West Pleasantville; Sanford C. Hearn, Walden, to First Church, Yonkers; W. H. Lofthouse, South Rondout to Mossemere Church, Yonkers; Augustus A. Walker, Nepperhan Heights Church, Yonkers, to Memorial Church, Yonkers; Philip A. Easley, Boscobel Church, this city, to Carmel.

The Rev. Ferdinand C. Iglehart, Field Secretary of the State Anti-Saloon League, addressed the conference on the progress of prohibition. Speaking of the work of the league, he said: "Despite the fact that the Excise Committee of the Legislature has gone back on us and tried to discredit us, we cut down the nominal majority of 90,000 for "Tom" Foley, the saloonkeeper Sheriff, to 25,000, and I believe if the votes had been correctly counted, there would have been enough to defeat Foley."

A. A. Walker, Statistical Secretary of the conference, read his report, which showed that during the last year there have been three churches added to the conference, making a total of 428 and an increase in church property of $247,880, or a total of $7,686,239. The conference adjourned without date or place.

LAWYER FAINTS IN COURT.

Witness Arrested for Perjury and Women Pull Each Other's Hair.

While a witness for the defense in an arson case was testifying in the Kings County Court yesterday he was arrested for perjury, whereupon Leonard Snitkin, counsel for Joseph Berkowitz, the defendant, fainted. He collapsed in the same chair in which Election Commissioner Maguire died while arguing a case in the same court a short time ago. The witness was taken to Raymond Street Jail and Mr. Snitkin was taken to his home in a cab.

The case was adjourned, and several women who had been subpoenaed as witnesses became involved in a wordy war, which quickly developed into a general hair-pulling bee.

SUFFRAGETTES' YELLOW DAY.

Plant Jonquils in Madison Square and a Banner "Vote for Women."

It was a yellow, yellow day down at Madison Square yesterday. The suffragettes were christening their new Spring flower, the jonquil, at an afternoon open-air meeting. The suffragettes say that they can keep up the yellow flowers all through the flower season. The jonquils will last for some time, yellow marguerites will fill in the space if necessary until the sunflowers come, and the goldenrod will bloom early and last, until late Fall.

With the jonquils and the big yellow "Vote for Women" farmer the open air meeting looked so cheerful that it interrupted a Spring moving.
